Girl Advances To National Finals

Dover Junior High Wins Canton Spelldown Again

By BYRON EELLS

Dover Junior High School saw one champion fall by the wayside, but quickly moved another into her place to retain the title in the 16th annual regional spelling bee Friday night at Canton. It happened this way: Karen Sherwood, a 13-year-old eighth-grader who was attempting to repeat her 1961 victory, was eliminated in the first round of the spelldown last night, but her classmate, Pam Lieser, finally emerged victorious in the 2½-hour word battle at Timken Vocational High School.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl N. Lieser, Pam not only achieved a personal victory but retained the honor for her school, the third time its students have won the crown in the 16 years the bee has been sponsored by The Canton Repository.

BY OUTSPELLING 37 other champions from Columbiana, Carroll, Holmes, Stark and Tuscarawas counties, Pam earned the right to represent the region in the national finals June 4-8 in Washington and received a host of prizes, including a 24-volume set of the Encyclopaedia Brittanica, a portable typewriter and a solid gold medal.

By her victory, her school retains the Dennis R. Smith Memorial Trophy for another year and will continue to receive a year's supply of Encyclopaedia Brittanica films.

Pam's victory came on the 367th word when Andy Miller of Alliance substituted an "o" for the first "u" in "garrulous". Pam spelled it correctly and then ended the bee with "linguistic".

Although shocked by her sudden ouster in the first round on "detach", Miss Sherwood was among the first to rush on stage and congratulate Pam.

As runnerup, Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Miller, also was presented with a portable typewriter. Jeannine Fisher of Strasburg, who finished in third place when she missed "illumine", received a two-volume set of the Britannica World Language Dictionary.

Tuscarawas County not only claimed the champion, but also Miss Fisher, who didn't eat a bite of her dinner at the "Banquet of Champions" preceding the bee, and the fifth-place contestant, Mary Oldt of Newcomerstown, who was eliminated on "repugnant".

Another Miller — this one Raymond A., an eighth grader at Lexington School in Stark County — wound up fourth. After spelling much harder words, the pressure got Raymond, who used an "ie" instead of "ea" in "bereaved."

KATHLEEN CURL of Columbiana finished as the best of Columbiana County's five entrants, ranking ninth. "Nemesis" was just that for Kathy in the 16th round.

Martha Williams, an eighth-grader at Westgate, finished 11th, spelling "parity" with an "e" instead of an "a".

Donna Sargent of Fairfield was eliminated in the sixth round on "frappe", while Malcolm Ogilvie, Taft sixth-grader, bowed out in the fifth round when he started "acceptance" with an "ex".

Melody Lutton of East Junior High was unfortunate in the second round when she didn't know when to quit on "deficit". Melo-

Army Ousts Roberts For DAR Speech

Relieved Of Active Duty And Ordered To Civilian Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Arch E. Roberts has been barred from active duty by the Army and ordered back to civilian life for his unauthorized speech before the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The order was handed down Friday by Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr., who said he took the action "because of improper statements made by Maj. Roberts in an uncleared speech."

Roberts said he was surprised and intended to appeal.

"I expected a hearing and I still expect a hearing," declared Roberts. "My position has never been revealed, except to the dear ladies in the DAR, God bless 'em."

The Army said, however, there was no formal appeal procedure open to Roberts, who claims to be the author of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's controversial pro-blue troop indoctrination program.

Roberts—who believes the nation is menaced by communism—gave a talk to the DAR convention April 19 after the Pentagon refused to approve the formal speech he had prepared. He attributed a Communist background to Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty—a charge Yorty denounced as ridiculous—and said Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams had leftist leanings.

Roberts was immediately suspended pending an investigation, which resulted in the action by the secretary of the Army.

Stahr, said the Defense Department had decided the 46-year-old former paratrooper had "violated traditional standards of conduct for an officer of the U.S. Army."

The department said the finding "followed official inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the making of the speech and a study of the contents of the speech."

The order relieving Roberts from active duty is effective May 7. He will retain his Reserve commission.

Roberts, restricted to his post at Ft. Lee, Va., since the speech, has said he wants to tell his story before the Senate Armed Services subcommittee, headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., which has been investigating allegations that the Pentagon and State Department have muzzled anti-Communist speeches and efforts of military officers.

But Stennis said his subcommittee planned to take no immediate action.

A-Testing, Berlin To Top Agenda

'Little Summit' May Bring New Call For Test Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan conferred at the White House today on wide-ranging cold war issues including nuclear testing and Western efforts to work out a Berlin settlement with Russia.

Diplomats said the weekend little summit meeting between the two men may produce a new Western call for an enforceable test ban treaty with Russia plus a promise to halt U.S. testing in the Pacific the moment Russia signs such a pact.

Kennedy was expected to tell Macmillan that Secretary of State Dean Rusk is making slow but steady progress in his probing with Russia of the possibilities of an East-West Berlin agreement. Rusk considers the prospects for success completely uncertain but slightly hopeful.

Rusk met for 90 minutes Friday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. They agreed to say nothing afterward about the details of their discussion. The State Department would say only "they discussed Germany and Berlin," and covered a wide range of subjects related to those topics.

The tone of the talk was described by U.S. officials variously as correct, businesslike, friendly and relaxed. Aides said that Rusk did not make any new proposals on terms for a Berlin settlement.

Macmillan arrived here in late afternoon from New York. Kennedy, who had just flown in from Florida where he had vacationed for 10 days, met the prime minister at Andrews Air Force Base for a ceremony with full military honors, including a 19-gun salute.

Friday night Kennedy and Macmillan topped the guest list at a banquet of White House correspondents and photographers.

The two men arranged to meet through Saturday evening—from a mid-morning talk at the White House through a dinner at the British embassy Saturday night.

Rep. Hays To Attend Macmillan Luncheon

Rep. Wayne L. Hays and another Congressman serving on the House Foreign Affairs Committee were guests of President Kennedy today at his luncheon at the White House for British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The Flushing Democrat flew to Washington this morning and was to return in time to address a meeting of the 18th District Rural Mail Carriers' Association at Hopedale tonight.

Rep. Hays, ranking member of the House committee, and Dr. Thomas Morgan of Pennsylvania's 26th District, chairman, were guests at the luncheon.

In Pacific And Nevada

U.S. Fires Nuclear Tests Thousands Of Miles Apart

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has fired back-to-back nuclear tests thousands of miles apart—one underground in Nevada, the other a mushrooming burst over the Pacific.

The Pacific shot Friday was the second in the new American series of atmospheric tests. According to the terse Atomic Energy Commission announcement, it was pretty much a repeat of Wednesday's test.

The device, dropped from a plane in the vicinity of Christmas Island shortly after sunrise, brightened the sky over the central Pacific.

The detonation was described as in the intermediate range—having more explosive power than 20,000 tons of TNT but less than 1-million tons. This would make it 5 to 25 times more powerful than the World War II atomic bomb that blasted Hiroshima.

The Nevada test was the 30th underground blast to be reported by the AEC since the series was begun after the Soviet Union broke the test moratorium last fall with some 40 blasts in the atmosphere.

The AEC said the underground shot was a low-yield explosion—less than the force of 20,000 tons of TNT.

It was the first time shots were detonated at widely separated test sites on a single day but not the first time a day's testing included two or more blasts. The tests in the atmosphere are the first by the United States since Oct. 30, 1958, just before the voluntary moratorium went into effect.

It was understood that the Pacific explosions had to do with checking out a device still in the development stage rather than a finished atomic weapon.

The planes used were probably B52 or B47 bombers. Thus the explosion likely was triggered at a relatively low altitude, below 30,000 feet.

Scores Of Americans Protest Atomic Tests

By The Associated Press

Scores of Americans are protesting United States' resumption of nuclear testing in the atmosphere with small demonstrations across the country. There has been no violence.

The United States resumed the atmospheric tests last Wednesday amid continuing disarmament talks in Geneva. The Soviet Union had broken a moratorium on testing last Sept. 1.

For Negroes From South

One-Way 'Freedom Bus' Rides To Resume Monday

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—One-way "Freedom Bus" rides to the North and West for dissatisfied Negroes will resume on a mass scale Monday, a director of the sponsoring New Orleans Citizens Council said Friday night.

"We're ready to send as many as want to go," said the director, George Singelmann.

Singelmann said Trailways officials had promised to make available as many buses as necessary shortly after noon Monday. He said he had deposited $1,409 for each of two or three buses expected to go.

He said he wouldn't know just how many would leave until they showed up at the bus terminal. He insisted that more than 100 Louisiana Negroes were waiting to make the journey.

Two Negroes left for New York City Friday night. They were Shelby Williams, about 27, and his wife. Singelmann said the Williams couple didn't want to wait until Monday because their rent in New Orleans was to run out tonight.

Singelmann said those who requested to leave by bus Monday included a couple and their 10 children who were going to Los Angeles; a woman with three children to Oakland, and dozens of others for Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Chicago.

Singelmann said he had also reserved 25 seats on the Southern Pacific train Sunset Limited leaving New Orleans for California Monday night.

Mayor John Houlihan of Oakland said, "It is a sad commentary on humanity that these white Southerners would take this action to get rid of unfortunate Negroes."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York said the motives in the Freedom Bus program were beneath and beyond contempt. Nevertheless, said Wagner, temporary emergency relief would be made available "to these refugees from oppression and discrimination within our own land."

In Philadelphia, Thomas Burress, executive director of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said, "These people will come here assuming there's gold in the streets, when actually job conditions, along with housing conditions, are almost as bad, if not as bad, as they are in New Orleans."

Manuel Kaufman, deputy commissioner of the Philadelphia Welfare Department, said if any families did arrive, the city could not do more than provide them with surplus food since there are residency requirements for public assistance.

Charges Filed Against 3 In Gambling Raid

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Charges were filed against three men and a chuck-a-luck cage and dice table were seized Friday night in a raid on a road and gun club fish fry in Austintown Township, north of Youngstown.

Chief Constable Harry Husk of Austintown Township said he and two of his men, along with an internal Revenue Service agent and two state liquor law enforcement agents, made the raid after watching the party for about half an hour. He said about 300 persons were there.

Husk said some dice games had stakes as high as $30 a throw.

West Virginia To Offer State As A-Test Site

CHARLESTON (AP) — Federal officials will be handed within a few months a proposal envisioning a West Virginia site for underground atomic explosion experiments — if it's decided such tests are feasible here.

The West Virginia Atomic Energy Committee said Friday that it will recommend state co-operation with the federal government looking to such possible experiments in a report it now has in preparation.

The report will go to Gov. Barron, who set up the committee last year with instructions that it examine the significance of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's Plowshare project as far as West Virginia is concerned.

Plowshare was established to study the feasibility of using the heat and energy of atomic explosions for such purposes as producing chemicals, generating electric power and moving earth.

So far, only one atomic blast has been put off in the project, and that was produced in rock salt strata. The Plowshare headquarters are in Livermore, Calif.

The West Virginia committee of nine members expects to have a final draft of its report to Barron ready for approval at its next meeting in June, with the exact date for that session yet to be set.

Dr. H. W. Schulz, committee chairman and associate director of research and development at Union Carbide's technical center in South Charleston, led a briefing of newsmen yesterday on the group's work so far.

Committee meetings have been closed to the press because, Schulz expalined, "we have been a little bit reluctant to be premature about making disclosures that might have to be retracted later."

Mercury Will Climb Back To Mid-80's

The mercury was scheduled to return to the mid-80's today after hitting a 85 downtown Friday afternoon in the spring "heat wave."

The Stratton Dam had a higher mark — 86 — yesterday.

The forecast for the day's high was 78 to 84 but sunny skies indicated the higher mark will be reached or exceeded. Tonight's low range will be 55 to 65, slightly warmer than last night.

District firemen, who have been battling field fires almost daily the past week, found little help from the weatherman. He said there will be a few scattered thundershowers this afternoon or tonight, and a few scattered showers tomorrow. The district needs a drenching rain to end the hazard of the dry grass and brush.

8 Bodies Recovered

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An Army search crew recovered eight bodies today from the wreckage of a helicopter which crashed Friday and burned while on an inspection tour of Eskimo scout battalions. Two men survived.

Pupils Strike In Protest To Board Action

Principal Fired, 7 Teachers Handed Week Suspension

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich. (AP) —A weekend cease-fire was in effect today at Anchor Bay High School, where most of the 361 students took part Friday in a strike demonstration over the firing of the principal and the suspension of seven teachers.

The students rallied to the cause after Principal Rudy Kamischke was dismissed and the teachers were suspended for a week without pay.

They had drawn the wrath of the seven-member board for wearing black arm bands of mourning for the election defeat of a proposal that would have given them the protection of tenure in their jobs.

Superintendent William Nuse later said Kamische was fired in part because "he believed in educating those children having the greatest ability and did not want to spend any time with the others."

Kamischke said he had received a letter saying his contract would not be renewed because of "insubordination, instability and incompatibility."

Later, he and five of the suspended teachers announced they would seek a court injunction Monday to restore their jobs pending a hearing.

The student demonstration was orderly. Students paraded in front of the school, bearing signs protesting the disciplinary actions while police and some parents stood by.

Trooper Transferred

WEIRTON — Trooper D. L. Lake has been transferred from the West Virginia State Police detachment here to Clarksburg after several years in Weirton. He left today with his family for the new assignment. The detachment is now manned by Cpl. C. W. Tighe and Trooper Tom Chidester.

House, Barn Destroyed In County Blaze

EAST PALESTINE — Several hundred acres of brushland were burned over and a house and a barn were destroyed in a series of chain - reaction blazes which broke out along a 35-mile stretch of the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line between East Palestine and Sebring Friday afternoon. A man and his wife were forced from the home by the blaze.

The fires were caused by hot carbon blown from the stack of a diesel locomotive as it passed through the area.

A total of 200 firemen from more than 10 communities fought the fires for more than three hours after the first broke out here at 2 p. m.

The East Palestine department was called just after the westbound diesel passed through. The fire was just west of the city.

The East Palestine department then was summoned to New Waterford to aid with another brush fire.

The major blaze was about a mile north of Route 7 near Columbiana.

At one time a mile section along the right-of-way was in flames and the blaze destroyed an old frame dwelling and barn. The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kidd, an elderly couple, were forced to flee for their lives. His hair was singed by the flames. They were taken to Salem Central Clinic for observation.

The flames at this section also

Suspect Files Innocent Plea For Holdup

Man In Pietranton Case To Be Tried In Hancock Court

A Steubenville area man was arraigned Friday in Hancock County Circuit Court on a four-month-old indictment charging him with attempted armed robbery of a prominent Weirton attorney.

Edward Louis Carrothers, 21, of Rayland R. D. 2 pleaded innocent to an indictment returned by the November Grand Jury, accusing him of the attempted holdup of former county prosecutor Frank A. Pietranton.

Atty. George Bohach of Weirton was named defense counsel and Judge Ralph E. Pryor set May 14 as tentative trial date in the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Carrothers had been released from Jefferson County Jail in Steubenville on Tuesday after serving four months on another charge.

Atty. Pietranton was accosted by two men Nov. 27 as he returned to his home in the rural New Cumberland area. Atty. Pietranton said they had blocked the road with their car, leaving the trunk lid open as an apparent ruse that the vehicle was disabled. He was injured slightly in a scuffle with the gunmen, who escaped in the car.

Judge Pryor also placed three men on probation and set a hearing on a demurrer filed on behalf of a Youngstown man charged with attempted armed robbery.

William C. Ware, 28, and Kenneth L. Bailey, 25, both of New Cumberland, received suspended sentences of 1-10 years in Moundsville State Penitentiary and were each placed on five years probation under strict terms.

Each had pleaded guilty ea-

Polio Inoculations Will Continue Tonight

The Columbiana County Medical Society reminded county residents that mass clinics will remain open tonight until the "last in line" receives a sip of the Type III oral polio vaccine.

The clinics opened at 1 this afternoon at Westgate and East Junior High Schools, Calcutta fire station, and McDonald School in Wellsville.

The society emphasized that although the clinics are scheduled to close at 7, they will remain open as long as anyone is present to become inoculated with the Sabin oral vaccine, taken in a small paper cup and termed "absolutely tasteless."

Last chance to help wipe out polio Type 3. Go to your local polio vaccine center.—Adv.

West Virginia To Offer State As A-Test Site

The report will go to Gov. Barron, who set up the committee last year with instructions that it examine the significance of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's Plowshare project as far as West Virginia is concerned.

Plowshare was established to study the feasibility of using the heat and energy of atomic explosions for such purposes as producing chemicals, generating electric power and moving earth.

So far, only one atomic blast has been put off in the project, and that was produced in rock salt strata. The Plowshare headquarters are in Livermore, Calif.

The West Virginia committee of nine members expects to have a final draft of its report to Barron ready for approval at its next meeting in June, with the exact date for that session yet to be set.

Dr. H. W. Schulz, committee chairman and associate director of research and development at Union Carbide's technical center in South Charleston, led a briefing of newsmen yesterday on the group's work so far.

Committee meetings have been closed to the press because, Schulz expalined, "we have been a little bit reluctant to be premature about making disclosures that might have to be retracted later."

Mercury Will Climb Back To Mid-80's

The mercury was scheduled to return to the mid-80's today after hitting a 85 downtown Friday afternoon in the spring "heat wave."

The Stratton Dam had a higher mark — 86 — yesterday.

The forecast for the day's high was 78 to 84 but sunny skies indicated the higher mark will be reached or exceeded. Tonight's low range will be 55 to 65, slightly warmer than last night.

District firemen, who have been battling field fires almost daily the past week, found little help from the weatherman. He said there will be a few scattered thundershowers this afternoon or tonight, and a few scattered showers tomorrow. The district needs a drenching rain to end the hazard of the dry grass and brush.

Pupils Strike In Protest To Board Action

Principal Fired, 7 Teachers Handed Week Suspension

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich. (AP) —A weekend cease-fire was in effect today at Anchor Bay High School, where most of the 361 students took part Friday in a strike demonstration over the firing of the principal and the suspension of seven teachers.

The students rallied to the cause after Principal Rudy Kamischke was dismissed and the teachers were suspended for a week without pay.

They had drawn the wrath of the seven-member board for wearing black arm bands of mourning for the election defeat of a proposal that would have given them the protection of tenure in their jobs.

Superintendent William Nuse later said Kamische was fired in part because "he believed in educating those children having the greatest ability and did not want to spend any time with the others."

Kamischke said he had received a letter saying his contract would not be renewed because of "insubordination, instability and incompatibility."

Later, he and five of the suspended teachers announced they would seek a court injunction Monday to restore their jobs pending a hearing.

House, Barn Destroyed In County Blaze

EAST PALESTINE — Several hundred acres of brushland were burned over and a house and a barn were destroyed in a series of chain - reaction blazes which broke out along a 35-mile stretch of the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line between East Palestine and Sebring Friday afternoon. A man and his wife were forced from the home by the blaze.

The fires were caused by hot carbon blown from the stack of a diesel locomotive as it passed through the area.

A total of 200 firemen from more than 10 communities fought the fires for more than three hours after the first broke out here at 2 p. m.

The East Palestine department was called just after the westbound diesel passed through. The fire was just west of the city.

The East Palestine department then was summoned to New Waterford to aid with another brush fire.

The major blaze was about a mile north of Route 7 near Columbiana.

At one time a mile section along the right-of-way was in flames and the blaze destroyed an old frame dwelling and barn. The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kidd, an elderly couple, were forced to flee for their lives. His hair was singed by the flames. They were taken to Salem Central Clinic for observation.

Suspect Files Innocent Plea For Holdup

Man In Pietranton Case To Be Tried In Hancock Court

A Steubenville area man was arraigned Friday in Hancock County Circuit Court on a four-month-old indictment charging him with attempted armed robbery of a prominent Weirton attorney.

Edward Louis Carrothers, 21, of Rayland R. D. 2 pleaded innocent to an indictment returned by the November Grand Jury, accusing him of the attempted holdup of former county prosecutor Frank A. Pietranton.

Atty. George Bohach of Weirton was named defense counsel and Judge Ralph E. Pryor set May 14 as tentative trial date in the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Carrothers had been released from Jefferson County Jail in Steubenville on Tuesday after serving four months on another charge.

Atty. Pietranton was accosted by two men Nov. 27 as he returned to his home in the rural New Cumberland area. Atty. Pietranton said they had blocked the road with their car, leaving the trunk lid open as an apparent ruse that the vehicle was disabled. He was injured slightly in a scuffle with the gunmen, who escaped in the car.

Judge Pryor also placed three men on probation and set a hearing on a demurrer filed on behalf of a Youngstown man charged with attempted armed robbery.

William C. Ware, 28, and Kenneth L. Bailey, 25, both of New Cumberland, received suspended sentences of 1-10 years in Moundsville State Penitentiary and were each placed on five years probation under strict terms.

Each had pleaded guilty ea-

Polio Inoculations Will Continue Tonight

The Columbiana County Medical Society reminded county residents that mass clinics will remain open tonight until the "last in line" receives a sip of the Type III oral polio vaccine.

The clinics opened at 1 this afternoon at Westgate and East Junior High Schools, Calcutta fire station, and McDonald School in Wellsville.

The society emphasized that although the clinics are scheduled to close at 7, they will remain open as long as anyone is present to become inoculated with the Sabin oral vaccine, taken in a small paper cup and termed "absolutely tasteless."

$9,209 Seen Low Bid For Sewer Work

A Mahoning County firm submitted the apparent low bid of $9,209 to the Board of Control Friday afternoon for installation of a sanitary sewer to serve approximately 40 homes in a Fisher Park neighborhood.

The offer of Herman Brothers, Inc., of Youngstown was one of six opened by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Safety - Service Director Robert Owen. There was a spread of $2,161 between the lowest and highest bids.

The job calls for sewering of sections of N. Surrey Rd. and S. Surrey Rd., an area not included in the original Fisher Park sewer project of about six years ago.

Other bids in ascending order are:

R. K. McKee of Columbiana, $10,460; Plate Excavating Co. of Wellsville R.D. 1, $10,874; Sikora Brothers Excavating Co. of Poland, $10,982; United Excavating Co., Inc., of Youngstown, $11,101, and Erskine Construction and Mining Co., Inc., of Lowellville R.D. 2, $11,370.

The mayor and director referred the bids to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate for a study of their legality and arithmetical accuracy. The two officials will report back to the board.

Five contractors' representatives also attended the bid - opening session, along with Engineer George S. Bloomgren, who is clerk of the board.

Final enabling legislation for the project was approved by Council about a month ago. The cost will be paid by special assessments against the property-owners.

Highway Markers To Be Given Cleaning

All highway route marking signs in Division 11 will be cleaned by a newly-formed crew working out of the Highway Department's New Philadelphia office.

Special equipment has been mounted on a truck and a two-man crew assigned to operate the new sign washing apparatus. The equipment consists of a special pump and sprayer which applies a cleaning solution under pressure to highway signs that have become dirty. An application of clear water under pressure is then applied to rinse the signs.

The crew will travel over the seven counties of Division 11 as part of a statewide program of maintaining route marking signs for greater motoring safety.

State Group Appoints 2

The Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission, of which Peter N. Amato of Wellsville is a member, named an executive director and secretary at a special meeting Friday in Columbus.

The commission was named by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to aid in providing financial assistance for needy students to attend college.

Ned George Sharples of Columbus was named executive director, and Mrs. Fay Berondsi, also of Columbus, was named secretary.

The commission's headquarters will be in the Wyandot Building in the state capital.

Following monthly meetings this winter, the commission has drafted plans for its projects and will have forms printed later for applicants.

The commission expects to receive applications of needy students for financial assistance by this fall, Amato reported. The applicant must first be accepted by a college, and secondly show need of financial aid.

The commission will be authorized to lend a qualified applicant up to $750 for his first year in college, with the maximum amount for four years of study to be $5,000.

Four months after graduating, the student is to begin repaying the loan. Amato is one of nine members of the commission.

Street Cleaning Resumes Sunday

All of Wellsville's improved streets have been cleaned and Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said today the second-round will begin Sunday night.

The street sweeper was used Friday night on Buckeye Ave. between 15th St. and Aten Ave. and on 10th St.

This marked the end of the first-round of cleaning of the improved streets. He said the grader was used last night to loosen the heavy accumulation.

Baldasare said Route 7 from one end to the other will be covered for the second time Sunday night.

The entire length was swept and washed at the outset of the program, which started about a month ago.

Baldasare asked motorists to cooperate and not park along the main thoroughfare so the entire project can be completed in one night.

He also said the city is now rebristling its own brushes for the sweeper, resulting in a considerable savings.

William Charles Olenick of Weirton received a sentence of 10 years in Moundsville Penitentiary and was also placed on five years probation.

Olenick had pleaded guilty to an indictment charging embezzlement of $3,170.18 from the Weir - Cove Dairy, Inc., Jan. 13.

James A. Young, 27, of Weirton was sentenced to a year in County Jail after pleading guilty to a misdemeanor indictment accusing him of the breaking and entering of a Weirton market Jan. 29.

Judge Pryor made no immediate decision on a request for probation filed on behalf of Young. The defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's office.

Atty. William Moore filed a demurrer in the case of Michael Anthony Pochiro, 26, of Youngstown, indicted on a charge of attempted armed robbery of James Bournais of Weirton Feb. 14. Arguments will be heard at noon Thursday.

Wibert Robinson, 27, of Weirton is scheduled for trial May 10 at 9:30 a. m. He pleaded innocent to a charge of felonious stabbing of Joseph Jordan, 20, of Weirton, March 4 while on Route 66 south of Newell.

Due At Hearing For Grass Fire

A 16-year-old Wellsville boy accused of deliberately setting a grass fire that damaged a house is scheduled to appear Monday at 10 a. m. before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville. His parents also were directed to be present. The charges were filed by Fire Chief Robert Lewis following the fire Thursday afternoon that damaged a home on Buckeye Ave.

Lewis issued a warning today that parents are responsible for any damages resulting from fires set by their children.

He also warned that all outside burning has been banned in the Wellsville area.

Lewis said no type of outdoor burning, even for cooking, will be permitted.

The condition in the area is serious, he commented, pointing out the woods and fields are very dry. "Just one spark can cause a major fire to break out and with the heavy breezes, the blaze quickly gets out of control," he added.

He also pointed out that although firemen are not generally concerned about the brush being burned, the fires usually endanger property.

When two or three such fires break out, the firemen are faced with the decision of which to battle and this may result in damage to somebody's home, he said.

The street sweeper was used Friday night on Buckeye Ave. between 15th St. and Aten Ave. and on 10th St.

This marked the end of the first-round of cleaning of the improved streets. He said the grader was used last night to loosen the heavy accumulation.

Baldasare said Route 7 from one end to the other will be covered for the second time Sunday night.

The entire length was swept and washed at the outset of the program, which started about a month ago.

Baldasare asked motorists to cooperate and not park along the main thoroughfare so the entire project can be completed in one night.

He also said the city is now rebristling its own brushes for the sweeper, resulting in a considerable savings.

er to felony indictments returned by the April Grand Jury charging theft of die plates and shims valued at $750 from the Hancock Manufacturing Co. March 13.

Due At Hearing For Grass Fire

A 16-year-old Wellsville boy accused of deliberately setting a grass fire that damaged a house is scheduled to appear Monday at 10 a. m. before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville. His parents also were directed to be present. The charges were filed by Fire Chief Robert Lewis following the fire Thursday afternoon that damaged a home on Buckeye Ave.

Lewis issued a warning today that parents are responsible for any damages resulting from fires set by their children.

He also warned that all outside burning has been banned in the Wellsville area.

Lewis said no type of outdoor burning, even for cooking, will be permitted.

The condition in the area is serious, he commented, pointing out the woods and fields are very dry. "Just one spark can cause a major fire to break out and with the heavy breezes, the blaze quickly gets out of control," he added.

He also pointed out that although firemen are not generally concerned about the brush being burned, the fires usually endanger property.

When two or three such fires break out, the firemen are faced with the decision of which to battle and this may result in damage to somebody's home, he said.

Herbert Mellott of W. 8th St. was taken into custody at 1:57 yesterday morning on W. 5th St. by Patrolman Robert B. Pyle. Pleading guilty, he was fined $25 and costs and ordered remanded to jail until the penalty is paid.

Officer Pyle said he observed Melott emerge from an auto carrying a bottle of ale. Melott took two drinks from the bottle, then attempted to conceal it underneath his jacket when he observed the officer, Patrolman Pyle reported.

Quizzed by the judge, Melott said he could not remember the name of the tavern in Hancock County where he purchased the ale. He said he is unemployed and is supported by his mother. The judge imposed the fine after commenting that Melott was before him in March on an intoxication charge.

"You haven't learned your lesson," the judge said. "This is your second appearance here in two months on an offense connected with drinking."

No One's Attacking The FBI

Here is a perfect example of the way identities can get criss-crossed when loose accusations are made.

When President Kennedy and his advisers hammered and tonged the steel companies to rescind a raise in tonnage prices, they hit the industry with everything they could lay their hands on.

Members of the Kennedy administration got on the telephone to use personal influence with old college friends and acquaintances. There was extensive personal persuasion along with official persuasion.

Part of the official persuasion caused certain agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to wake up a couple of newspaper reporters during the night to answer questions about statements by steel industry spokesmen. Critics of the episode believe the questions could have been answered during daylight office hours.

The incident left an impression in some quarters that the Kennedy administration, which conspicuously includes Attorney General Robert Kennedy, whose department contains the FBI, overplayed its hand in its angry reaction following the announced increase in steel prices.

Yet for saying this there now is an accusation being made that to say so is criticism of the FBI, which has done too much good work to be criticized.

What a criss-cross of identities!

No one is accusing the FBI of overplaying the Kennedy administration's hand. Its agents investigate only what they are asked to investigate. Most assuredly they would not wake up newspaper reporters to answer questions in the middle of the night without having been ordered to do so. The FBI is everything its admirers say it is. No one's criticizing it.

Which still doesn't give a clean bill of health to the source of the order that caused some Americans to swallow hard and blink off the similarity to government agents in other lands who make a practice of getting people out of bed for questioning in the middle of the night.

So We Just Hit The Moon . . .

Somewhere on a part of the moon that never has been seen from earth a tangle of wreckage "Made in U.S.A." awaits discovery by the first earthlings to reach the satellite. Somewhere else another tangle "Made in U.S.S.R." awaits discovery, too. The Russians were first.

Our rivals had intended to paint the moon red with their moon shot; they failed. But because they are trickier about public psychology, they never admitted failure. The U. S. moon shot, in contrast, is being regarded as half a failure because a complicated gadget supposed to send back information failed to work.

So we just hit the moon . . .

So some of our rockets don't do what they were supposed to do . . .

So some of our gadgets don't work . . .

Americans brood about their failures and minimize their successes. The Russians say nothing about their failures and play up their successes, thus setting a psychological trap.

Americans are peculiarly susceptible to the trap. We are savagely and relentlessly self-excoriating. We are so busy picking flaws we forget to bestow credit. We play to win, which is all right, but we forget to appreciate the skill of the loser that brought out the qualities of the winners.

The next time we remember to look at the moon, give a thought to the space scientists who can calculate the trajectory of a successful moon shot.

Imagine what would have been said 20 years ago if someone had announced, "we hit the moon where we planned to hit it but our frazzle-dazzle didn't work the way we had planned."

Wouldn't we have replied that the frazzle-dazzle was the least of it; that hitting the moon was what mattered?

The frazzle-dazzle can come later.

Government Changes Its Mind

It is easy to imagine the buzz that greeted Defense Secretary McNamara's decision to end the travel ban for military dependents. Every American sent overseas while the ban was in effect was entitled to his opinion about its effect on him and his kind—and it's a safe guess some of the opinions were sulphuric.

Secretary McNamara's explanation that the reason for the ban no longer exists doesn't add up. The ban was begun by President Eisenhower to ease the deficits in the U.S. balance of international payments and the consequent outflow of gold. It was intensified in the Kennedy administration to provide transportation leeway for beefing up the Berlin garrison.

Couldn't it well be that the Kennedy administration has changed its official mind on this matter of policy in the same way it now has changed its mind on the "missile gap" which it says has been closed—not wholly because of any real change but partly because it has revised its estimates of Russian missile strength?

Contrary to wishful thinking, governmental decision-making is not always based on established fact. Much government policy-making is founded on nothing but arbitrary assertion.

Our potential opponents' military strength may fluctuate wildly, depending on the latest estimate of the latest spokesman. We may be alternately physically unfit and physically fit, depending on who is talking and what he wants from us. We may be efficient and inefficient by fits and starts—freedom-loving and freedom-abusing by fits and starts, too.

Militarily, we may flutter from impregnable to pitiable like the pressure gauge on a pump in need of repair. We may be alternately well-heeled and going broke, if we heed the thought-dispensers on the Potomac.

Could it be that it never did make sense for U.S. taxpayers to foot the bill for moving the families of service men back and forth across oceans; that the "missile gap" never did exist; that we are not really 51-55 per cent spavined, as charged by the Kennedy brothers and that our freedom, if it exists at all, exists absolutely, not relatively even for steel companies?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Imaginary dialogue between Prince Rainier and Princess Grace following news Alfred Hitchcock has postponed movie of the princess to later date when her "availability in connection with duties to Monaco will be clearer:

Grace: Well it's nice to know Alfred will remain neutral in the Monaco-France crisis. He never makes war films.

Rainier: But he loves mysteries and I have to admit it's a mystery how Monaco has gone on so long in a state of peace and happiness.

Grace: Maybe Alfred thought that to be involved in any way with Charlie and us would tempt him to do a Western with a Riviera background.

Rainier: I've had comforting news that Lady Docker denies she has converted her yacht into a Polaris submarine and will turn it over to French fleet.

Grace: Do you think De Gaulle would really cut off the water and electricity?

Rainier: When he gets mad he could cut off the champagne and casino lights. By the way in a case of a war, do you think the United States would come in on our side?

Grace: No. You run one of the few countries where there is no income tax and it makes Americans resentful and jealous.

Rainier: Getting back to De Gaulle, I suppose that, since he is up to neck in money problems, it makes him sore to see me living in a bed of roses.

Grace: Yes, especially when the bed of roses is ringing with the sound of dice, roulette wheels and yachting parties.

Rainier: At times I think if you went to America for new movie it might be to my advantage.

Grace: How so?

Rainier: Well if things got bad and you were kept so busy reading war communiques that you were hampered as a movie star, Americans would get angry enough to send me some munitions and technicians. How far do you think De Gaulle will really go?

Grace: It's all a gamble.

Rainier: In Monaco what isn't?

Grace: Anyhow we will have the Onassis family on our side. Maybe their whole fleet.

Rainier: I hope De Gaulle will put all his cards on the table.

Grace: Yes, and, after all, you are ahead with tables.

Rainier: Oh, well, I'm glad you're staying here. You're nice to have around in a crisis and I think even De Gaulle will succumb to your charm and be less belligerent toward the kingdom. He might wind up doing a bit part in your picture when Hitchcock decides to go ahead with it.

Grace: Flatterer!!

MAN WHO ROBBED Georgia bank returned the money voluntarily, neatly packaged. The sum stolen was $12,000 and probably realized it wouldn't buy anything to speak of. But can an incident such as this mark debut of "your friendly bank robber"?

The Great Manipulator

Hopeful Sign Seen In Steel Issue

By Victor Riesel

This report is being written because it is based on a "conversation" with a man who not only is one of the best informed leaders of the American steel industry, but who was in almost minute - to-minute contact with the vast cast of what will be forever known as the Big Steel Drama of '62. This dramatis personae ranges from President Kennedy and Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg to steel company officials.

Victor Riesel

According to this source, who must remain anonymous, there is now a greater understanding in Washington of the need for real profits by all business. "In Washington," includes the White House, some of the Cabinet and special presidential advisers, too.

There is an understanding of what must be done to get such profits and what can be done constructively with the money.

When you get such understanding, the source said, then what industry does to make profits and keep competitive will not cause the kind of reaction U.S. Steel got from President Kennedy.

IN THE JARGON of the businessmen, whose responsibility includes efficient operation of huge mills and tens of thousands of employes, the remedy is not necessarily increased prices.

It can be holding the line on the cost of wages; and the very important factor of government tax relief for depreciation of equipment. There must, however, be a flexibility of price. This also is understood in Washington, it was said.

Note that even in private conversation, there is the caution of the "source" who is not accustomed to the blunt interplay in which we newsmen keep asking for names, specifics, dates.

But with each word carefully weighed like ingredients for an incubator baby's formula the message was that: There is no desire by most people in government to try to regulate prices. To my source this was a good sign, though it appears contrary to what many of us believe the administration plans in one fashion or another.

THE SOURCE indicated he is delighted to have found this attitude in Washington — for which I believe he meant the President and his orbiting groups of advisers, political and economic, inside.

The source indicated this is fine, for he does not believe the government is equipped to determine prices. For this reason and for matters of principle, U.S. Steel did not inform the White House of the proposed price hike in advance.

To have gone to Washington would have meant, in effect, the seeking of presidential permission for such action. It was this reasoning — and not an effort to insult the President or to betray Arthur Goldberg — which determined U.S. Steel's policy. It was pointed out that no one had asked "steel" for a no-price-raise pledge and none had been given.

It might be pointed out here parenthetically that after Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, had left the White House that famous Tuesday evening, Mr. Goldberg put all the blame for the crisis on himself. The President pooh-poohed this.

There was bitterness. True the price was rescinded due to basically competitive reasoning. But, said the source, U.S. Steel did not want to see the launching of a civil war between the government and all business.

This would have hurt both. Therefore there must be more understanding of the government's position and vice versa, the source said. That was Mr. Blough's word to the President.

The steel executive is expected to see Mr. Kennedy and Goldberg again and again. Efforts will be made for an ever more cordial relationship from now on out — not only between Big Steel and JFK but between all business and the administration.

HOWEVER, this does not shake "steel" from its belief that labor negotiations must be kept separate from management's price-making decisions. The company believes it would be wrong and improper to talk with a union about prices in a highly competitive industry.

The point is that costs must come down to avoid a profit squeeze. And the word is that Washington now understands this.

Washington, however, is still pushing its New York Grand Jury investigation of "steel." At least 12 witnesses have appeared in the probe which is being directed from the Capitol. They are mostly financial people, vice presidents and controllers in charge of production budgets of such companies as U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, etc. (12 in all).

Just how this eventually will affect the growing fraternity between Washington and business no one knows. But our source was far from pessimistic.

Letters To The Editor

This is intended as an open letter to the people of Lawrenceville, Grandview, Johnsonville and surrounding areas.

What is the matter with you people of these communities? You people, many of whom were born here, went to school here, married, bought or built your homes here and are now raising your children here in this community—a growing community. More people are moving in and building new homes here every day.

You have not the best, but one of the best equipped fire departments in a community of this size. This department you do not hesitate to call in time of need. A small group of men willing to give their time, any hour, day or night, whenever and whatever the need might be.

You also have a group of approximately 12 women known as the auxiliary to the fire department. This number should be 20 times the size it is. So should the actual number of men be larger.

What do you do to help support these two groups? Sure some of you donate $1 a month, still some of you do not. And, of course, some of you cannot. These few that cannot are more than willing to work for and donate their time to help the fire department.

You people of this community do not take this into consideration. Public suppers and other events are given to help raise money for this fire department. It takes money to have modern equipment, to maintain the upkeep of the two fire trucks and squad car and to pay for the upkeep of a suitable building for this convenience to you the people.

Now comes the big question. Where do the firemen and this small group of women get their support? More people come from Chester, Newell, East Liverpool and Hookstown to attend and participate in these events than people from this very own community who will reap the benefits of this department.

Think this over you very good people of these communities. Where would you be if we did not have this department here to help you in your time of need, to save your homes and the precious lives of your loved ones?

This small group of men is trained to administer oxygen in cases of emergency and many other services of which you may at one time need.

A little group of men willing to risk their own lives to help save you and yours. So why not get behind them and support them? Be proud of your community and not let people outside of your own community show you up.

You people have something to be proud of.

Price Structure Seen Lacking Certainty

When the stock market takes a tumble costing shareholders about $5 billion in value in one day — as it did last week — and the decline is attributed to unsettling news from Washington, the sensitive relationship between governmental power and the operations of American business becomes all too evident.

David Lawrence

One wonders if the people in the Kennedy administration from the top down realize that one-man government, without benefit of law, can really shake confidence and hold back natural expansion. For neither short-range nor long-range business planning can be carried on without some degree of certainty that such plans will not be disrupted.

Now Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges really didn't issue any threats in his Tuesday press conference, but he tried in his own way to define the Washington situation as it relates to the price problem. What came over the news tickers in condensed form, however, was disquieting — and again largely because it is a novel thing to try to run a business nowadays and set your own prices while a threat of FBI detective and grand jury investigations hangs over your head.

It is important to read exactly what Secretary Hodges said, for, while he certainly didn't intend to unsettle anybody, he gave a candid picture of the changed situation that confronts American business in setting prices.

HERE ARE excerpts from the recorded transcript of his news conference:

"Q. Mr. Secretary, would you think that the events have committed the government to a more active role in price and wage determination than the administration had anticipated or desired?

"A. You know, I think it could go the opposite way. I think that the fact that this worked — certainly with a little discussion and persuasion that this kind of thing worked, could postpone — if there were to be any legislation, to postpone that, because I think this kind of thing, the way the decision was finally formulated, that that would show that there is not the same need that some people may have been saying during these critical few days of discussion.

"Q. Does that mean that you think we should have executive price control?

"A. No, it doesn't mean that at all. I was trying to say the other, and I have said publicly twice since this steel discussion, that I thought one of the worst things that could happen to this country would be for us to go into government control, the executive couldn't have any control except as authorized by the Congress. . . .

"Q. Mr. Secretary, what I really was trying to get at was more concerned with the executive branch only. Wouldn't you say that now the executive branch, the administration, has to decide every time there is a price increase whether it is justified and should be allowed or whether it is unjustified and the government should attempt to beat it down?

"A. I was asked on the West Coast Thursday or Friday a repeated question five or six times from a person who had the idea that the President or the administration was going to decide each individual case where a firm was going to raise prices. . . . I was sure the administration, Mr. Kennedy, was not interested in getting into each settlement and each detail. What he did, what we did as a whole was to discuss and try to resolve a basic industry such as steel because that is and was a bellwether which would have affected, one way or the other would have affected, all other negotiations and the economy itself. There may be others more or less like it, but not every individual case.

"Q. Well, which are the others that are more or less like it?

"A. I would say aluminum following on would have some relationship. I haven't heard it discussed in the administration, so I don't want to say that has been brought up.

"Q. Mr. Secretary, for how long is the steel industry precluded from raising its prices?

"A. There is no preclusion. I gather there is no decision as to how long. They just didn't raise them at the time of this (labor) settlement because it didn't seem to make sense."

NOW, the above statements were made by Secretary Hodges frankly and with an intention to be helpful.

Many a businessman will throw up his hands in despair if he tries to find out from these utterances what is going to happen to the price structure, how much interference will come from the government on prices, and what — if any — interference is going to be exerted on the matter of increasing wage costs.

Life under one - man government, without benefit of law, without benefit of hearings at which all sides can be heard and economic facts can be presented, is something new.

Even laws that authorized wage - and - price control in wartime at least provided a board of several persons who function in a quasi-judicial way but the latest system, or lack of system, is a helter - skelter affair that can only produce economic anarchy.

An experimenting president and an indifferent Congress must soon clarify the situation so as to prevent more declines in the markets and remove the roadblocks in the way of the capital-goods expansion which is so necessary for economic recovery.

Odd Facts

Memorial or Decoration Day was originated by the women of the South at the close of the Civil War. These women made a practice of decorating the graves of soldiers, both Confederate and Union, early in the spring of each year. This struck a sympathetic chord through the North and on May 5, 1868, a general order was issued proclaiming May 30 as the day "for the purpose of strewing flowers or decorating the graves of comrades who died during the late war".

Although the Sahara Desert is usually thought of as one of the world's largest barren and desolate regions, still about 600,000 people live in it. Almost two-thirds of this number, however, live in the comparatively fertile steppe region of the area. Most of the remainder live clustered around oases in the vast reaches of the African wasteland.

The valuable element, uranium, never occurs in its pure form in nature, but is always combined with other substances to form a mineral. More than 100 uranium-bearing minerals are known to exist. In some of these uranium is the chief constituent, but in others it forms only a very small part of the whole.

No One's Attacking The FBI

Here is a perfect example of the way identities can get criss-crossed when loose accusations are made.

When President Kennedy and his advisers hammered and tonged the steel companies to rescind a raise in tonnage prices, they hit the industry with everything they could lay their hands on.

Members of the Kennedy administration got on the telephone to use personal influence with old college friends and acquaintances. There was extensive personal persuasion along with official persuasion.

Part of the official persuasion caused certain agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to wake up a couple of newspaper reporters during the night to answer questions about statements by steel industry spokesmen. Critics of the episode believe the questions could have been answered during daylight office hours.

The incident left an impression in some quarters that the Kennedy administration, which conspicuously includes Attorney General Robert Kennedy, whose department contains the FBI, overplayed its hand in its angry reaction following the announced increase in steel prices.

Yet for saying this there now is an accusation being made that to say so is criticism of the FBI, which has done too much good work to be criticized.

What a criss-cross of identities!

No one is accusing the FBI of overplaying the Kennedy administration's hand. Its agents investigate only what they are asked to investigate. Most assuredly they would not wake up newspaper reporters to answer questions in the middle of the night without having been ordered to do so. The FBI is everything its admirers say it is. No one's criticizing it.

Which still doesn't give a clean bill of health to the source of the order that caused some Americans to swallow hard and blink off the similarity to government agents in other lands who make a practice of getting people out of bed for questioning in the middle of the night.

So We Just Hit The Moon . . .

Somewhere on a part of the moon that never has been seen from earth a tangle of wreckage "Made in U.S.A." awaits discovery by the first earthlings to reach the satellite. Somewhere else another tangle "Made in U.S.S.R." awaits discovery, too. The Russians were first.

Our rivals had intended to paint the moon red with their moon shot; they failed. But because they are trickier about public psychology, they never admitted failure. The U. S. moon shot, in contrast, is being regarded as half a failure because a complicated gadget supposed to send back information failed to work.

So we just hit the moon . . .

So some of our rockets don't do what they were supposed to do . . .

So some of our gadgets don't work . . .

Americans brood about their failures and minimize their successes. The Russians say nothing about their failures and play up their successes, thus setting a psychological trap.

Americans are peculiarly susceptible to the trap. We are savagely and relentlessly self-excoriating. We are so busy picking flaws we forget to bestow credit. We play to win, which is all right, but we forget to appreciate the skill of the loser that brought out the qualities of the winners.

The next time we remember to look at the moon, give a thought to the space scientists who can calculate the trajectory of a successful moon shot.

Imagine what would have been said 20 years ago if someone had announced, "we hit the moon where we planned to hit it but our frazzle-dazzle didn't work the way we had planned."

Wouldn't we have replied that the frazzle-dazzle was the least of it; that hitting the moon was what mattered?

The frazzle-dazzle can come later.

Government Changes Its Mind

It is easy to imagine the buzz that greeted Defense Secretary McNamara's decision to end the travel ban for military dependents. Every American sent overseas while the ban was in effect was entitled to his opinion about its effect on him and his kind—and it's a safe guess some of the opinions were sulphuric.

Secretary McNamara's explanation that the reason for the ban no longer exists doesn't add up. The ban was begun by President Eisenhower to ease the deficits in the U.S. balance of international payments and the consequent outflow of gold. It was intensified in the Kennedy administration to provide transportation leeway for beefing up the Berlin garrison.

Couldn't it well be that the Kennedy administration has changed its official mind on this matter of policy in the same way it now has changed its mind on the "missile gap" which it says has been closed—not wholly because of any real change but partly because it has revised its estimates of Russian missile strength?

Contrary to wishful thinking, governmental decision-making is not always based on established fact. Much government policy-making is founded on nothing but arbitrary assertion.

Our potential opponents' military strength may fluctuate wildly, depending on the latest estimate of the latest spokesman. We may be alternately physically unfit and physically fit, depending on who is talking and what he wants from us. We may be efficient and inefficient by fits and starts—freedom-loving and freedom-abusing by fits and starts, too.

Militarily, we may flutter from impregnable to pitiable like the pressure gauge on a pump in need of repair. We may be alternately well-heeled and going broke, if we heed the thought-dispensers on the Potomac.

Could it be that it never did make sense for U.S. taxpayers to foot the bill for moving the families of service men back and forth across oceans; that the "missile gap" never did exist; that we are not really 51-55 per cent spavined, as charged by the Kennedy brothers and that our freedom, if it exists at all, exists absolutely, not relatively even for steel companies?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Imaginary dialogue between Prince Rainier and Princess Grace following news Alfred Hitchcock has postponed movie of the princess to later date when her "availability in connection with duties to Monaco will be clearer:

Grace: Well it's nice to know Alfred will remain neutral in the Monaco-France crisis. He never makes war films.

Rainier: But he loves mysteries and I have to admit it's a mystery how Monaco has gone on so long in a state of peace and happiness.

Grace: Maybe Alfred thought that to be involved in any way with Charlie and us would tempt him to do a Western with a Riviera background.

Rainier: I've had comforting news that Lady Docker denies she has converted her yacht into a Polaris submarine and will turn it over to French fleet.

Grace: Do you think De Gaulle would really cut off the water and electricity?

Rainier: When he gets mad he could cut off the champagne and casino lights. By the way in a case of a war, do you think the United States would come in on our side?

Grace: No. You run one of the few countries where there is no income tax and it makes Americans resentful and jealous.

Rainier: Getting back to De Gaulle, I suppose that, since he is up to neck in money problems, it makes him sore to see me living in a bed of roses.

Grace: Yes, especially when the bed of roses is ringing with the sound of dice, roulette wheels and yachting parties.

Rainier: At times I think if you went to America for new movie it might be to my advantage.

Grace: How so?

Rainier: Well if things got bad and you were kept so busy reading war communiques that you were hampered as a movie star, Americans would get angry enough to send me some munitions and technicians. How far do you think De Gaulle will really go?

Grace: It's all a gamble.

Rainier: In Monaco what isn't?

Grace: Anyhow we will have the Onassis family on our side. Maybe their whole fleet.

Rainier: I hope De Gaulle will put all his cards on the table.

Grace: Yes, and, after all, you are ahead with tables.

Rainier: Oh, well, I'm glad you're staying here. You're nice to have around in a crisis and I think even De Gaulle will succumb to your charm and be less belligerent toward the kingdom. He might wind up doing a bit part in your picture when Hitchcock decides to go ahead with it.

Grace: Flatterer!!

"A. I was asked on the West Coast Thursday or Friday a repeated question five or six times from a person who had the idea that the President or the administration was going to decide each individual case where a firm was going to raise prices. . . . I was sure the administration, Mr. Kennedy, was not interested in getting into each settlement and each detail. What he did, what we did as a whole was to discuss and try to resolve a basic industry such as steel because that is and was a bellwether which would have affected, one way or the other would have affected, all other negotiations and the economy itself. There may be others more or less like it, but not every individual case.

"Q. Well, which are the others that are more or less like it?

"A. I would say aluminum following on would have some relationship. I haven't heard it discussed in the administration, so I don't want to say that has been brought up.

"Q. Mr. Secretary, for how long is the steel industry precluded from raising its prices?

"A. There is no preclusion. I gather there is no decision as to how long. They just didn't raise them at the time of this (labor) settlement because it didn't seem to make sense."

NOW, the above statements were made by Secretary Hodges frankly and with an intention to be helpful.

Many a businessman will throw up his hands in despair if he tries to find out from these utterances what is going to happen to the price structure, how much interference will come from the government on prices, and what — if any — interference is going to be exerted on the matter of increasing wage costs.

Life under one-man government, without benefit of law, without benefit of hearings at which all sides can be heard and economic facts can be presented, is something new.

Even laws that authorized wage-and-price control in wartime at least provided a board of several persons who function in a quasi-judicial way but the latest system, or lack of system, is a helter-skelter affair that can only produce economic anarchy.

An experimenting president and an indifferent Congress must soon clarify the situation so as to prevent more declines in the markets and remove the roadblocks in the way of the capital-goods expansion which is so necessary for economic recovery.

Odd Facts

Memorial or Decoration Day was originated by the women of the South at the close of the Civil War. These women made a practice of decorating the graves of soldiers, both Confederate and Union, early in the spring of each year. This struck a sympathetic chord through the North and on May 5, 1868, a general order was issued proclaiming May 30 as the day "for the purpose of strewing flowers or decorating the graves of comrades who died during the late war".

Although the Sahara Desert is usually thought of as one of the world's largest barren and desolate regions, still about 600,000 people live in it. Almost two-thirds of this number, however, live in the comparatively fertile steppe region of the area. Most of the remainder live clustered around oases in the vast reaches of the African wasteland.

The valuable element, uranium, never occurs in its pure form in nature, but is always combined with other substances to form a mineral. More than 100 uranium-bearing minerals are known to exist. In some of these uranium is the chief constituent, but in others it forms only a very small part of the whole.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Faith Power Changes Things

A successful man told of his remarkable experience of faith power when he was a small boy. He was born with a withered leg and from infancy wore a brace. he could not run with other boys or climb trees with them. So he developed a deep inferiority complex. He felt he was different. He was handicapped. He became gloomy and fearful about himself and his future: If he couldn't climb trees with the boys how could he ever climb the ladder of life?

DR. PEALE

But his French-Canadian father said to him, "Son, don't worry about your leg." And he told the boy that in the cathedral there was a big pile of crutches and braces left there by people who had gone to the cathedral with maladies and disabilities and had been healed. He said, "Some day I am going to take you into the cathedral and at the great altar God will heal you."

—:—

THE GREAT day came. Dressed in their Sunday best, father and son entered the cathedral, a glorious place with sunlight streaming through high stained-glass windows.

Soft organ music reverberated through the aisles and arches. Down the long center aisle they walked, hand in hand, the boy looking about wonderingly, the brace on his little withered leg thumping at each step.

As they knelt at the altar the father said, "Now, son, pray and ask God to heal you."

With bowed heads they prayed. When they raised their eyes again, the boy caught sight of his father's face — and what he saw there made an impression he never forgot.

"I had seen my father's face under many circumstances," he said, "and I had often seen it full of love. But never had I seen it so beautiful as at that moment. There were tears in his eyes, and shining through was the joyous, exalted faith of the true believer. It was a wonderful sight."

"God has healed you my son," declared the father brokenly.

PROFOUNDLY stirred the boy stood up. But when he looked down, there was his withered leg —the same as before. They started back down the aisle, the old brace thumping along as usual. The boy was deeply disappointed.

Then as they approached the huge door of the cathedral something happened. "I felt something tremendously warm in my heart," he said. "I seemed to feel something like a great hand pass across my head. I can feel to this day the lightness and yet the power of that touch. Suddenly I was boundlessly happy. I cried, 'Father, you are right! I have been healed!"

"Young as I was, I knew what had happened. God has not taken the brace off my leg, but He had taken the brace of fear and inferiority off my mind."

From then on, the withered leg had no power to dismay the boy or inhibit his development. He lived and grew in faith and confidence and went forward into a splendid career.

We hear of an experience like this and we think, "How wonderful!" But what about us? Ask yourself if you have been wearing on your mind a brace of nervousness or tension? Or of fear, hate or prejudice? Through the healthy thought pattern of faith you can be freed of that brace which hampers and frustrates you.

But people ask what good is it to know this if you just do not have faith of that sort. The answer is to develop such faith.

WE DEVELOP faith in the same way as we gain proficiency of any kind — by practice. And here are some ways of practice which I recommend: Spend no less than 15 minutes each day reading the Bible. This will saturate your mind with faith thoughts. Select texts that speak of faith. Then memorize them and repeat them to yourself at intervals every day, until your mind absorbs them.

Pray often, not negative prayers, but positive affirmations. Regularly attend church. This will expose you to the powerful faith atmosphere of a house of worship. And when you are faced with a specific problem, think about it, talk about it, pray about it. There is power in that three-point formula.

Think, talk and live as though you had faith and at length you will have it. Perseverence in such practice takes effort of course. But keep at it for no effort pays greater dividends. Faith power actually does change things. Through real faith you can overcome any difficulty in life. "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith," says the Bible. And what a truth that is!

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Faith Power Changes Things

A successful man told of his remarkable experience of faith power when he was a small boy. He was born with a withered leg and from infancy wore a brace. he could not run with other boys or climb trees with them. So he developed a deep inferiority complex. He felt he was different. He was handicapped. He became gloomy and fearful about himself and his future: If he couldn't climb trees with the boys how could he ever climb the ladder of life?

DR. PEALE

But his French-Canadian father said to him, "Son, don't worry about your leg." And he told the boy that in the cathedral there was a big pile of crutches and braces left there by people who had gone to the cathedral with maladies and disabilities and had been healed. He said, "Some day I am going to take you into the cathedral and at the great altar God will heal you."

—:—

THE GREAT day came. Dressed in their Sunday best, father and son entered the cathedral, a glorious place with sunlight streaming through high stained-glass windows.

Soft organ music reverberated through the aisles and arches. Down the long center aisle they walked, hand in hand, the boy looking about wonderingly, the brace on his little withered leg thumping at each step.

As they knelt at the altar the father said, "Now, son, pray and ask God to heal you."

With bowed heads they prayed. When they raised their eyes again, the boy caught sight of his father's face — and what he saw there made an impression he never forgot.

"I had seen my father's face under many circumstances," he said, "and I had often seen it full of love. But never had I seen it so beautiful as at that moment. There were tears in his eyes, and shining through was the joyous, exalted faith of the true believer. It was a wonderful sight."

"God has healed you my son," declared the father brokenly.

PROFOUNDLY stirred the boy stood up. But when he looked down, there was his withered leg —the same as before. They started back down the aisle, the old brace thumping along as usual. The boy was deeply disappointed.

Then as they approached the huge door of the cathedral something happened. "I felt something tremendously warm in my heart," he said. City Elks Lodge Plans Program For Youth Day

Elks Lodge 258 has announced plans for observance of Youth Day Tuesday, which has been proclaimed by Mayor Bert Goodballet.

The Ohio Elks Association is participating in Elks National Youth Day as a contrast to the Communist countries which on May 1 observe Red May Day with parades and demonstrations to exploit youths for the spread of communism and atheism.

The mayor's proclamation says in part, "there could be no event more deserving of our support than one dedicated to the young people of our nation, state and city who represent the world's greatest resource."

The events during the week will be climaxed with the Ohio association's convention Saturday at Columbus when awards will be presented for youth leadership, along with scholarships.

A delegation of about eight from the local lodge will attend, along with their wives. Delegates are Mike Gerace and Tom Maley. The group will leave Friday night.

The lodge will also hold a dance Friday night at 9 for youths, because that night will be more convenient for young people rather than on Tuesday — Youth Day, Maley said.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

The Apostles—I

PETER

(Peter is the greek word for rock.)

"And I say also unto thee, that thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my church..." This was Jesus' promise to Peter after Peter made the first confession of faith.

Peter, the foundation stone of the church, continued to think in terms of stones in his preaching and writing. "Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house..."

"Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner-stone elect and precious..."

Before Peter himself was crucified in Rome, he was forced to witness the crucifixion of his own wife. His power of faith was so strong that he inspired his jailer to become a Christian.

City Elks Lodge Plans Program For Youth Day

Elks Lodge 258 has announced plans for observance of Youth Day Tuesday, which has been proclaimed by Mayor Bert Goodballet.

The Ohio Elks Association is participating in Elks National Youth Day as a contrast to the Communist countries which on May 1 observe Red May Day with parades and demonstrations to exploit youths for the spread of communism and atheism.

The mayor's proclamation says in part, "there could be no event more deserving of our support than one dedicated to the young people of our nation, state and city who represent the world's greatest resource."

The events during the week will be climaxed with the Ohio association's convention Saturday at Columbus when awards will be presented for youth leadership, along with scholarships.

A delegation of about eight from the local lodge will attend, along with their wives. Delegates are Mike Gerace and Tom Maley. The group will leave Friday night.

The lodge will also hold a dance Friday night at 9 for youths, because that night will be more convenient for young people rather than on Tuesday — Youth Day, Maley said.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

The Apostles—I

PETER

(Peter is the greek word for rock.)

"And I say also unto thee, that thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my church..." This was Jesus' promise to Peter after Peter made the first confession of faith.

Peter, the foundation stone of the church, continued to think in terms of stones in his preaching and writing. "Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house..."

"Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner-stone elect and precious..."

Before Peter himself was crucified in Rome, he was forced to witness the crucifixion of his own wife. His power of faith was so strong that he inspired his jailer to become a Christian.

Drysdale, Dodgers Trip League-Leading Pirates, 7-2

Giants Nip Cubs, Cards Blast Reds

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Drysdale, tiger turned tamer, has junked a jinx and stands ready to assume the ace-of-the-staff post reserved for him by the patient Los Angeles Dodgers.

An angry young man who publicly stated his distate for pitching in the Los Angeles Coliseum, Drysdale has found a haven in the new Dodger Stadium, where Friday night he posted his third victory in four starts by beating Pittsburgh 7-2.

The 25-year-old right-hander, never before a winner against the Pirates in Los Angeles, scattered 10 hits in posting his first victory over the National League leaders since July 3, 1960. He had made eight starts against the Pirates and had failed to complete a game.

At San Francisco, the Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4, Milwaukee nipped Houston 2-1 behind Bob Shaw's four-hitter, St. Louis blasted Cincinnati 14-3 and Philadelphia handed the New York Mets their 11th setback in 12 games, 11-9.

In the American League, Cleveland defeated Minnesota 7-2, Detroit walloped the Los Angeles Angels 13-4, the New York Yankees outlasted Washington 10-8, the Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 7-4 and Kansas City belted Baltimore 14-5.

Frank Howard and Johnny Roseboro collected half of the Dodgers eight hits, each driving in two runs with a pair of singles. Three walks, Howard's two-run single and Roseboro's run-producing hit in the first inning off rookie Bob Veale (1-1) gave Drysdale all he needed. Drysdale walked only one and struck out seven as the Dodgers won their sixth in the last eight games.

The Giants snapped a 4-4 tie in the ninth on singles by Jim Davenport and relief pitcher Stu Miller and a sacrifice fly by Chuck Hiller. Until then it had been a home run battle with Bobby Gene Smith and George Altman connecting for the Cubs and Orlando Cepeda and Willie McCovey countering for the Giants. Miller (1-0) got the victory while Bob Anderson (0-3) was tagged with the loss.

Shaw's shutout bid was spoiled by Jim Pendleton's home run in the fourth, but otherwise the former American Leaguer was in complete control, winning his second in three starts. The Braves wrapped it up in the sixth, getting an unearned run off Colts' starter Bobby Shantz (1-1) when Mack Jones reached base on Joey Amalfitano's error and scored on Hank Aaron's triple to snap a 1-1 tie.

Backed by eight- and five-run innings, the Cardinals' Curt Simmons (3-0) had easy going as he limited the Reds to eight hits. Simmons was tagged for homers by Wally Post and Frank Robinson, but three runs batted in by Ken Boyer and two driven in by Curt Flood more than offset that. Flood has hit safely in all 13 St. Louis games and his batting at a .429 clip.

John Callison's 4-for-5 effort and a three RBI performance by Tony Gonzalez led the Phils' 15-hit attack that built an 11-1 edge the Mets were unable to overcome. Don Demeter slammed a two-run triple in a five-run sixth inning explosion iced it for Cal McLish (2-0). Roger Craig (0-3) took the loss.

Wellsville Downs Potters, 63½-54½, To Register 5th Victory In Track

Wellsville's powerful track forces came on strong in the field events to defeat East Liverpool, 63½-54½, in a nip-and-tuck track meet Friday afternoon at Patterson Field.

The same two teams will hook up in a rematch Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 on the Wellsville cinders.

Coach Ken Woods' Tiger trackmen, owners of an overwhelming defeat of East Palestine, won five of the nine running events, but went on to sweep all five field events. The victory was Wellsville's fifth in six outings.

The overall balance of Coach Bob Hedmond's team kept the Potters close to Wellsville. The Blue and White thinclads won only four first place spots, but piled up numerous second and third place finishes.

LARRY GILES, Jim Reed and Mark Leyda set the pace for the Tigers. Giles and Reed were double winners. Giles won the 440-yard dash in 53.8 and found time to take the high jump in 5 feet, 9 inches, an event which Wellsville swept all three places.

Reed toured the 100-yard dash in 10.5 and the 220-yard dash in 23.1 defeating East Liverpool's Dave Harriel who finished second in both events.

Leyda soared 19 feet, 10 inches in the broad jump to sew up the meet for Wellsville, tied for second in the 180-yard low hurdles and was third in the high jump.

OTHER Wellsville firsts came when John Euill won the 180-yard low hurdles in 21.7; Andy Dash put the shot 46 feet, 4¼ inches; Pearson threw the discus 121 feet, 9½ inches, and Miller went over the pole vault bar at 9 feet, 9 inches.

Jim Richardson grabbed a first for East Liverpool in 120-yard high hurdles, and after a bad start tied for second in the 180-yard low hurdles. His time in the highs was 16.3.

THE POTTERS distance runners won two firsts as Bruce McCoy toured the mile in 4:47.1, but was pressed hard by teammate Gary McKee who was only a second behind. McKee then came back to win the 880-yard run in 2:12.1.

East Liverpool's mile relay team turned in a shining performance as Earl Olmstead, Tom Brokaw, Bob Forzano and Butch Griffith passed the baton successfully to victory in 3:42.

Wellsville's 880-yard relay won that event, turning in its best time of 1:35.5. The team included Barborak, Reed, Euill and Dash.

The results follow:

120-Yd. high hurdles — Richardson (EL), Luckino (W), Parsons (EL). Time — 16.3.

100-Yd. dash — Reed (W), Harriel (EL), Corbisello (W). Time—10.5.

Mile run — McCoy (EL), McKee (EL), Wilson (W). Time—4:47.1.

Half-mile relay — Wellsville first (Barborak, Reed, Euill, Dash). Time—1:35.5.

440-Yd. dash — Giles (W), Griffith (EL), Olmstead (EL). Time—53.8.

180-Yd. low hurdles — Euill (W), Richardson (EL) and Leyda (W) tied. Time — 21.7.

Syracuse Drops Third Straight

By The Associated Press

The Mets and Senators have been having their woes and the story's no different for the International League farm team they share, the Syracuse Chiefs. After three days of action, the Chiefs are still looking for their initial victory.

Jacksonville completed a three-game sweep of the Chiefs, on southpaw Steve Hamilton's two-hitter, 2-0, Friday night backed by Ultus Alvarez' two-run homer.

Toronto's veteran righthander Steve Ridzik put a stop to Columbus' two-day power show, firing a one-hitter as the Leafs won their first, 5-0. Johnny Powers spoiled Ridzik's no-hit bid when he poked a single in the fourth.

Dick Berardino's third home run in three days paced Richmond to a 4-1 victory over Buffalo. Bob Lasko struck out 13 and allowed just three hits in his first Triple-A start.

Rochester came from behind to beat Atlanta, 4-2.

Carry Back Still Favorite To Win Kentucky Derby

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago today Carry Back was in Kentucky as the solid favorite for the Kentucky Derby.

Today he was still the choice as he awaited the running of the 1⅛-mile $75,000-added Gray Lag Handicap at Aqueduct. But his once brightly shining record was slightly tarnished as the result of failing in four major stake events.

The fact he was the choice for the Grey Lag was based on a five-length triumph in a tuneup race last week.

Carry Back, under top weight of 125 pounds including Manual Ycaza, gives four pounds to Globesmaster.

Yorktown, who beat Carry Back in New Orleans Handicap and measured Globemaster in the Campbell Memorial at Bowie, is the other highly rated horse in the field. He picks up 119 pounds.

2 Cage Stars Plan To Enter Cincy U.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Tom Biedenharn, who averaged 25.2 points a game last season for Cincinnati Elder, is the latest recruit to the University of Cincinnati basketball Bearcats. He stands 6-foot-8.

Another high school cage star, Dean Lampros of Columbus Eastmoor, also signed a letter of intent to go to UC, home of the 1961-62 NCAA champions.

World 100-Yard Dash Imperiled

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Five fleet sprinters threaten the world 100-yard dash record in the Drake Relays today in a rivalry which may allay for the fans the sting of a disappointing performance by pole vaulter John Uelses.

The classy field in the sprint is headed by stocky Bob Hayes of Florida A&M, who uncorked a blazing 9.4-second century in Friday's preliminaries.

Challenging him in the finals are Nat Adams of Purdue and Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois, who hit the tape in 9.6 seconds in the trials, and defending champion Bill Kemp of Baylor and Ray Knaub of Nebraska, who were clocked in 9.7 seconds.

In addition to tying the sprint record, Hayes also helped set one of three new college marks Friday.

The 19-year-old ace anchored Florida A&M to a 40.8 second record in the preliminaries of the college 440-yard relay, which trimmed three-tenths of a second off the old mark.

Texas Southern, aiming at six college titles, got off to a smashing start by setting two records, a 3:11.4 college mile relay clocking in the preliminaries and distance medley mark of 10:01.2.

A fourth record was registered when George Davies vaulted 15 feet, 6 inches in a rarely held AAU pole vault, which had been set up to attract Uelses, the ex-Marine who is the only person ever to clear 16 feet.

However, Uelses valuted only 14-11¾ inches to share second place with Dexter Elkins of Southern Methodist.

Injury-Hit Villanova Shines In Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Coaches at the Penn Relays are wondering just what Villanova could accomplish if the Wildcats were healthy.

Coach Jim Elliott's Eastern champions Friday won the distance medley title and qualified for the 400 and 880 relay finals. To do it, Elliott juggled his injury-riddled forces like a general with half an army.

He led off with a hurdler in the 440, Leon Pras, who substituted for an injured substitute. And in the 880, Pat Nicastro replaced the hobbled Charley Hammock. Pat Traynor ran anchor on the 4-mile team, and then anchored the winning distance medley, subbing here for injured Vic Zwolak.

But Elliott said he wasn't sure the Wildcats would enter the mile relay, which Villanova has won seven straight times.

"If the weather is good and I can get together four kids who want to run, maybe we'll try," he said.

With Villanova a doubtful quantity in the mile, Oklahoma State and Abilene Christian appear to be the class of the field. Abilene defeated the Cowboys in the Texas Relays, 3:10.0 to 3:10.2.

Other highlights of Friday's first session in this annual two-day stand, were Michigan's second straight victory in the 4-mile relay (17:12.5); Russ Rogers of Maryland State's meet record equalling :51.5 in the 400-meter hurdles; Charley Mays of Maryland State winning the broad jump (24-9); Ed Kohler of Fordham taking the discus with a meet record toss of 178-11½; Jared Nourse of Duke running off with the 2-mile run (9:11.3); and Ed Bailey keeping the hammer title at Harvard with a throw of 188-9½.

Beaver Local Bombs Rival

Beaver Local High unleashed a 20-hit attack to bomb Salineville 20-3, Friday afternoon at the Beaver Local diamond.

Southpaw Walter Schukert went the distance for the Beavers, yielding only four hits. Francis and Cunningham shared pitching duties for the losers.

Swinging heavy bats for the Beaver Local nine were John Broadbent, who homered, Gary Berhar, who stroked a homer and triple, Dave Myers, a triple, Dennis Horger and Gary Shaw, three hits each, and Dick Whittington, a bases-loaded double.

The Beavers, now 4-2 for the season, meet Springfield at home on Tuesday.

2 Ohio Grid Stars Accept Xavier U. Aid

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two Ohio high school football stars—Sam Fornsaglio of Steubenville Central Catholic and John DeFazio of Hamilton Catholic—have accepted grants-in-aid at Xavier University.

Fornsaglio, a 6-foot, 171-pound quarterback who completed 51 per cent of his passes last fall, was named to the 1961 All-Ohio team. The 5-9, 168-pound DeFazio was the leading ground gainer on an undefeated squad.

Drysdale, Dodgers Trip League-Leading Pirates, 7-2

Giants Nip Cubs, Cards Blast Reds

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Drysdale, tiger turned tamer, has junked a jinx and stands ready to assume the ace-of-the-staff post reserved for him by the patient Los Angeles Dodgers.

An angry young man who publicly stated his distate for pitching in the Los Angeles Coliseum, Drysdale has found a haven in the new Dodger Stadium, where Friday night he posted his third victory in four starts by beating Pittsburgh 7-2.

The 25-year-old right-hander, never before a winner against the Pirates in Los Angeles, scattered 10 hits in posting his first victory over the National League leaders since July 3, 1960. He had made eight starts against the Pirates and had failed to complete a game.

At San Francisco, the Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4, Milwaukee nipped Houston 2-1 behind Bob Shaw's four-hitter, St. Louis blasted Cincinnati 14-3 and Philadelphia handed the New York Mets their 11th setback in 12 games, 11-9.

In the American League, Cleveland defeated Minnesota 7-2, Detroit walloped the Los Angeles Angels 13-4, the New York Yankees outlasted Washington 10-8, the Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 7-4 and Kansas City belted Baltimore 14-5.

Frank Howard and Johnny Roseboro collected half of the Dodgers eight hits, each driving in two runs with a pair of singles. Three walks, Howard's two-run single and Roseboro's run-producing hit in the first inning off rookie Bob Veale (1-1) gave Drysdale all he needed. Drysdale walked only one and struck out seven as the Dodgers won their sixth in the last eight games.

The Giants snapped a 4-4 tie in the ninth on singles by Jim Davenport and relief pitcher Stu Miller and a sacrifice fly by Chuck Hiller. Until then it had been a home run battle with Bobby Gene Smith and George Altman connecting for the Cubs and Orlando Cepeda and Willie McCovey countering for the Giants. Miller (1-0) got the victory while Bob Anderson (0-3) was tagged with the loss.

Shaw's shutout bid was spoiled by Jim Pendleton's home run in the fourth, but otherwise the former American Leaguer was in complete control, winning his second in three starts. The Braves wrapped it up in the sixth, getting an unearned run off Colts' starter Bobby Shantz (1-1) when Mack Jones reached base on Joey Amalfitano's error and scored on Hank Aaron's triple to snap a 1-1 tie.

Backed by eight- and five-run innings, the Cardinals' Curt Simmons (3-0) had easy going as he limited the Reds to eight hits. Simmons was tagged for homers by Wally Post and Frank Robinson, but three runs batted in by Ken Boyer and two driven in by Curt Flood more than offset that. Flood has hit safely in all 13 St. Louis games and his batting at a .429 clip.

John Callison's 4-for-5 effort and a three RBI performance by Tony Gonzalez led the Phils' 15-hit attack that built an 11-1 edge the Mets were unable to overcome. Don Demeter slammed a two-run triple in a five-run sixth inning explosion iced it for Cal McLish (2-0). Roger Craig (0-3) took the loss.

Wellsville Downs Potters, 63½-54½, To Register 5th Victory In Track

Wellsville's powerful track forces came on strong in the field events to defeat East Liverpool, 63½-54½, in a nip-and-tuck track meet Friday afternoon at Patterson Field.

The same two teams will hook up in a rematch Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 on the Wellsville cinders.

Coach Ken Woods' Tiger trackmen, owners of an overwhelming defeat of East Palestine, won five of the nine running events, but went on to sweep all five field events. The victory was Wellsville's fifth in six outings.

The overall balance of Coach Bob Hedmond's team kept the Potters close to Wellsville. The Blue and White thinclads won only four first place spots, but piled up numerous second and third place finishes.

LARRY GILES, Jim Reed and Mark Leyda set the pace for the Tigers. Giles and Reed were double winners. Giles won the 440-yard dash in 53.8 and found time to take the high jump in 5 feet, 9 inches, an event which Wellsville swept all three places.

Reed toured the 100-yard dash in 10.5 and the 220-yard dash in 23.1 defeating East Liverpool's Dave Harriel who finished second in both events.

Leyda soared 19 feet, 10 inches in the broad jump to sew up the meet for Wellsville, tied for second in the 180-yard low hurdles and was third in the high jump.

OTHER Wellsville firsts came when John Euill won the 180-yard low hurdles in 21.7; Andy Dash put the shot 46 feet, 4¼ inches; Pearson threw the discus 121 feet, 9½ inches, and Miller went over the pole vault bar at 9 feet, 9 inches.

Jim Richardson grabbed a first for East Liverpool in 120-yard high hurdles, and after a bad start tied for second in the 180-yard low hurdles. His time in the highs was 16.3.

THE POTTERS distance runners won two firsts as Bruce McCoy toured the mile in 4:47.1, but was pressed hard by teammate Gary McKee who was only a second behind. McKee then came back to win the 880-yard run in 2:12.1.

East Liverpool's mile relay team turned in a shining performance as Earl Olmstead, Tom Brokaw, Bob Forzano and Butch Griffith passed the baton successfully to victory in 3:42.

Wellsville's 880-yard relay won that event, turning in its best time of 1:35.5. The team included Barborak, Reed, Euill and Dash.

The results follow:

120-Yd. high hurdles — Richardson (EL), Luckino (W), Parsons (EL). Time — 16.3.

Salem Overwhelms 2 Track Foes

Scoring heavily in the distance races and the field events, Salem High captured nine events to win a triangular track meet with Beaver Local and Cardinal Mooney of Youngstown Friday at Salem.

The Quakers posted a decisive victory in rolling up 75 points. Cardinal Mooney was second with 39½, while the Beavers of Coach Jack O'Rourke finished third with 33½ points.

Salem's Dave Edling was the individual star of the warm afternoon, winning two events, anchoring Salem's 880-yard relay team that won, and finishing second in the 220-yard dash.

Enders of Salem won two events, the shot put and discus throw.

Beaver Local gained two firsts and a tie, with Warren Bradley and Pete Wilkinson finishing in a dead heat in the 120-yard high hurdles, John Detchon of the Beavers and Hughes of Cardinal Mooney in a dead heat in the 440 and Goforth winning the pole vault.

Cardinal Mooney tied for the 440, and won the 180-yard low hurdles and the 220-yard dash. The winning times were not exceptionally good in any event.

Syracuse Drops Third Straight

By The Associated Press

The Mets and Senators have been having their woes and the story's no different for the International League farm team they share, the Syracuse Chiefs. After three days of action, the Chiefs are still looking for their initial victory.

Jacksonville completed a three-game sweep of the Chiefs, on southpaw Steve Hamilton's two-hitter, 2-0, Friday night backed by Ultus Alvarez' two-run homer.

Toronto's veteran righthander Steve Ridzik put a stop to Columbus' two-day power show, firing a one-hitter as the Leafs won their first, 5-0. Johnny Powers spoiled Ridzik's no-hit bid when he poked a single in the fourth.

Dick Berardino's third home run in three days paced Richmond to a 4-1 victory over Buffalo. Bob Lasko struck out 13 and allowed just three hits in his first Triple-A start.

Rochester came from behind to beat Atlanta, 4-2.

Carry Back Still Favorite To Win Kentucky Derby

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago today Carry Back was in Kentucky as the solid favorite for the Kentucky Derby.

Today he was still the choice as he awaited the running of the 1⅛-mile $75,000-added Gray Lag Handicap at Aqueduct. But his once brightly shining record was slightly tarnished as the result of failing in four major stake events.

The fact he was the choice for the Grey Lag was based on a five-length triumph in a tuneup race last week.

Carry Back, under top weight of 125 pounds including Manual Ycaza, gives four pounds to Globesmaster.

Yorktown, who beat Carry Back in New Orleans Handicap and measured Globemaster in the Campbell Memorial at Bowie, is the other highly rated horse in the field. He picks up 119 pounds.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Tom Biedenharn, who averaged 25.2 points a game last season for Cincinnati Elder, is the latest recruit to the University of Cincinnati basketball Bearcats. He stands 6-foot-8.

Another high school cage star, Dean Lampros of Columbus Eastmoor, also signed a letter of intent to go to UC, home of the 1961-62 NCAA champions.

World 100-Yard Dash Imperiled

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Five fleet sprinters threaten the world 100-yard dash record in the Drake Relays today in a rivalry which may allay for the fans the sting of a disappointing performance by pole vaulter John Uelses.

The classy field in the sprint is headed by stocky Bob Hayes of Florida A&M, who uncorked a blazing 9.4-second century in Friday's preliminaries.

Challenging him in the finals are Nat Adams of Purdue and Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois, who hit the tape in 9.6 seconds in the trials, and defending champion Bill Kemp of Baylor and Ray Knaub of Nebraska, who were clocked in 9.7 seconds.

In addition to tying the sprint record, Hayes also helped set one of three new college marks Friday.

The 19-year-old ace anchored Florida A&M to a 40.8 second record in the preliminaries of the college 440-yard relay, which trimmed three-tenths of a second off the old mark.

Texas Southern, aiming at six college titles, got off to a smashing start by setting two records, a 3:11.4 college mile relay clocking in the preliminaries and distance medley mark of 10:01.2.

A fourth record was registered when George Davies vaulted 15 feet, 6 inches in a rarely held AAU pole vault, which had been set up to attract Uelses, the ex-Marine who is the only person ever to clear 16 feet.

However, Uelses valuted only 14-11¾ inches to share second place with Dexter Elkins of Southern Methodist.

Injury-Hit Villanova Shines In Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Coaches at the Penn Relays are wondering just what Villanova could accomplish if the Wildcats were healthy.

Coach Jim Elliott's Eastern champions Friday won the distance medley title and qualified for the 400 and 880 relay finals. To do it, Elliott juggled his injury-riddled forces like a general with half an army.

He led off with a hurdler in the 440, Leon Pras, who substituted for an injured substitute. And in the 880, Pat Nicastro replaced the hobbled Charley Hammock. Pat Traynor ran anchor on the 4-mile team, and then anchored the winning distance medley, subbing here for injured Vic Zwolak.

But Elliott said he wasn't sure the Wildcats would enter the mile relay, which Villanova has won seven straight times.

"If the weather is good and I can get together four kids who want to run, maybe we'll try," he said.

With Villanova a doubtful quantity in the mile, Oklahoma State and Abilene Christian appear to be the class of the field. Abilene defeated the Cowboys in the Texas Relays, 3:10.0 to 3:10.2.

Other highlights of Friday's first session in this annual two-day stand, were Michigan's second straight victory in the 4-mile relay (17:12.5); Russ Rogers of Maryland State's meet record equalling :51.5 in the 400-meter hurdles; Charley Mays of Maryland State winning the broad jump (24-9); Ed Kohler of Fordham taking the discus with a meet record toss of 178-11½; Jared Nourse of Duke running off with the 2-mile run (9:11.3); and Ed Bailey keeping the hammer title at Harvard with a throw of 188-9½.

Beaver Local Bombs Rival

Beaver Local High unleashed a 20-hit attack to bomb Salineville 20-3, Friday afternoon at the Beaver Local diamond.

Southpaw Walter Schukert went the distance for the Beavers, yielding only four hits. Francis and Cunningham shared pitching duties for the losers.

Swinging heavy bats for the Beaver Local nine were John Broadbent, who homered, Gary Berhar, who stroked a homer and triple, Dave Myers, a triple, Dennis Horger and Gary Shaw, three hits each, and Dick Whittington, a bases-loaded double.

The Beavers, now 4-2 for the season, meet Springfield at home on Tuesday.

2 Ohio Grid Stars Accept Xavier U. Aid

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two Ohio high school football stars—Sam Fornsaglio of Steubenville Central Catholic and John DeFazio of Hamilton Catholic—have accepted grants-in-aid at Xavier University.

Fornsaglio, a 6-foot, 171-pound quarterback who completed 51 per cent of his passes last fall, was named to the 1961 All-Ohio team. The 5-9, 168-pound DeFazio was the leading ground gainer on an undefeated squad.

Donovan Wins 4th As Indians Turn Back Twins, 7-2

Tigers, Yanks, Chisox And A's Post Victories

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Donovan, who's made more stops than a local bus, may have found himself a home with the Cleveland Indians.

The tall, veteran right-hander, one of four players the Indians acquired when they dealt fiery Jimmy Piersall to the Washington Senators, is one of the principal reasons the Indians are leading the American League.

He chalked up his fourth victory in an unbeaten season with a solid, six-hit 7-2 triumph over the Minnesota Twins Friday night that kept the Indians a game ahead of the pack.

In the others, all night games, Detroit punished Los Angeles 13-4, New York outlasted Washington 10-8, Chicago beat Boston 7-4 and Kansas City routed Baltimore 14-5.

Donovan, who worked with five minor league teams and has divided his time in the majors with the old Boston Braves, Detroit and the Chicago White Sox, now looms as the key figure in the Piersall trade.

The soft-spoken Donovan, who specializes in pin-point control and breaking stuff, had a four-hit shutout going into the ninth, but home runs by Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles spoiled his bid.

By that time, however, his new mates had staked him to a 7-0 lead and the 34-year-old veteran had plenty of working room. A two-run homer by Woody Held in the second inning was the big blow.

One of the season's better rhubarbs and a $50 fine enlivened the Detroit-Los Angeles affair. It started when Joe Nuxhall hit Tiger Norm Cash in the back with a pitched ball. Plate umpire Ed Runge immediately walked to the mound and informed Nuxhall he was fined $50.

Nuxhall threw the ball into the first base stands. Second base umpire Ed Hurley thumbed him out. Angel Manager Bill Rigney began a wild protest. Out he went, too. And before it was over, Chuck Tanner, also of Los Angeles, got the gate.

Angel outfielders Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner later were subjected to a shower of beer cans and other rubbish from the stands when they took their defensive positions.

A seven-run second inning got the Tigers off and running. Billy Bruton, Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito each drove in three runs. Jim Bunning (2-0) won it and Ken McBride (1-3) was the loser.

New York established a 9-0 lead in the top of the fourth, then spent the rest of the evening fighting off rallies by the Senators who lost their 10th straight. Clete Boyer, Roger Maris and Elston Howard had homers for the Yankees, Boyer's with the bases loaded. Bill Stafford (1-2) got the victory and Pete Burnside (1-1) lost.

Nellie Fox, who doubled in the first run for the White Sox, hit a two-run single in the seventh that knocked in the tying and winning runs off Arnold Earley (0-2). Frank Baumann (2-0), who came on in the third, won it with Ed Fisher's help over the final two innings.

Gino Cimoli led the A's 18-hit offensive against the Orioles' Art Quick (1-1) and three successors with two triples, a pair of doubles and a single. Ed Rakow (3) got the victory, leaving in the ninth when his arm stiffened. Diego Sequi finished.

3 Ejected As Beer Cans Fly In Detroit Rhubarb

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Rigney's fury didn't abate until long after his Los Angeles Angels had been trounced and another Tiger Stadium rhubarb and missile barrage had ended.

In order, he took on the umpires, Detroit's unruly fans and sports writers Friday night. The fans and sports writers received a verbal barrage. Umpire Ed Hurley had his toes stepped on during a shoving match in the sixth inning after a hit-batsman incident ignited a wild scene.

Rigney and two of his players were ejected by Hurley and plate umpire Ed Runge.

It started when a ball thrown by pitcher Joe Nuxhall hit batting champion Norm Cash in the back while the Detroit Tigers were adding to their lead in a 13-4 victory.

Runge warned Nuxhall and fined him $50. The pitcher angrily threw the ball into the stands. Hurley ejected him. Rigney argued vehemently. Hurley ejected him. A fan stepped on the field and had to be restrained from tangling with Nuxhall. Chuck Tanner threw a towel from the Angel dugout. Runge ejected him.

In the outfield, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner ran for cover. They were pelted from the stands by assorted missiles, mostly empty beer cans. When they returned to their positions they wore batting helmets for protection. It was similar to the bombardment of New York Yankee home run king Roger Maris two weeks ago.

In the clubhouse after the game, Rigney fumed.

"Those fans are terrible," he yelled. "Why can't the police do something about it? It's awful. It's dangerous."

"Were Thomas or Wagner hit with anything?" a sports writer asked.

"What do you mean by that?" bellowed the angered Angel manager. "What do you mean? What does it matter if they were hit or not? Somebody can get killed out there. It should be stopped."

In another room, Runge gave his side of the rhubarb that set off the wild display. He said:

"In my opinion, Nuxhall threw at Cash. I went out and fined him $50 in accordance with league rules. I turned my back and he threw the ball into the stands.

"Hurley saw it and threw him out. Rigney came out and deliberately—I said deliberately—stepped on Hurley's feet. And Hurley pushed him away and threw him out. I threw Tanner out because he threw a towel from the dugout."

Joe Campbell Leads Texas Open By One

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Joe Campbell's big concern these days is coming into the 18th green leading a tournament and having to quit when his back locks up on him.

Campbell, the husky blond belter from Pendleton, Ind., put himself in position for such a catastrophy Friday when he fired a 3-under-par 68 to take over the lead in the $30,000 Texas Open.

Campbell, with 135 for 36 holes, is one stroke to the good over Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and favorite. Palmer put on another of his great finishes to snap back from near disaster on the first three holes. He banged five birdies the rest of the way to post a 69 for 136.

Campbell speaks freely of his back ailment. He has an extra bone growth and has been working all year to prevent an operation so he can continue on the golf tour. He is in traction every night.

"If the thing knots up it can keep me from even stooping over," he said. "I sure hope it can be straightened out without an operation because I want to stay on the tour."

Fernandez, Giambra To Clash In TV Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Florentine Fernandez, with a rebuilt nose, meets Joey Giambra tonight in a nationally-televised (ABC) fight scheduled for ten rounds that will be a critical test for both.

Fernandez, who has not fought since January when Dick Tiger bashed in his nose, wanted Tiger again but had to meet Giambra first.

New York State Denies Liston License To Fight

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Floyd Patterson - Sonny Liston heavyweight title bout is a fight without a home today. But there seems to be no shortage of cities willing to adopt the multimillion-dollar orphan.

The New York State Athletic Commission ran the controversial, widely ballyhooed fight out of town Friday by refusing Liston a license, citing his record and choice of associates. Until the commission's ruling, the match had been slated for Yankee Stadium or Polo Grounds in September.

Championship Sports, Inc., the promoters, immediately began shopping around for another location. A spokesman said Philadelphia, Liston's home town, Chicago, Los Angeles and Seattle, currently staging a world's fair, were possibilities.

Indications from officials in Philadelphia, Chicago and Seattle were that those cities would welcome the bout.

Douglas Hayden, California athletic commission chairman, said the state's stand on Liston was "pretty much like New York."

"The history of Liston's past associations form a pattern of suspicion," the New York commission statement said, "and wrong people do not disengage easily."

Among the past associations the statement named were Frank (Blinky) Palermo of Philadelphia and John Vitale and Frank Mitchell of St. Louis, all of whom have long arrest records.

Liston himself has been arrested nine times and convicted twice — of first-degree robbery in 1950 and of assault for intent to kill in 1956. He served three years of a 5-year sentence in Missouri State Penitentiary on the robbery conviction and was given a nine-month workhouse sentence on the assault charge.

"The New York decision doesn't concern me," Liston said in Philadelphia. "I'll go on training for the fight as if nothing had happened."

At his training camp in Highland Mills, N.Y., Patterson expressed sympathy for Liston. "What's he done? He's already served his time. I feel sorry for him."

Patterson's attorney, Julius November, contended that the commission's action technically washed out the contract signed March 16. November pointed out that the contract gave the champion the right to pick the site, that he picked New York and Liston now was unable to fulfill the terms.

Ohio High School Miler Cracks Record

CINCINNATI (AP) — Andy Schramm, a Deer Park High School senior, Friday night ran the mile in 4:19.7, fastest ever recorded for a high school miler in Ohio.

Achieved in the annual Lockland Relays, his mark does not constitute an official record. The state record of 4:24.1 was set by Mike Gallagher of Toledo Libbey in the 1961 state high school track meet at Columbus.

Reprimands Missouri U.

NCAA Puts Colorado U. On Two Years Probation

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association put the University of Colorado on two years probation Friday, reprimanded the University of Missouri and declined to reduce the three-year probation against New Mexico State University.

Colorado was banned from taking part in postseason bowl football games or appearing on the NCAA football television series. No other sports are involved.

The Colorado penalty stemmed from a slush fund operated by Everett Grandelius, football coach until his dismissal March 17.

The NCAA censured and reprimanded Missouri—without penalties—for giving a prospective athlete an interest-free loan.

The president and vice president of New Mexico State asked for reduction of its probation received last Jan. 11 for violating a rule to advise a college or junior college when an athlete is attracted from other schools.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said the Colorado infractions included improper financial assistance during 1959-61 to 21 students football athletes; football coaches causing grant-in-aid assistance to three athletes to be reduced or terminated; and members of the football staff arranging for medical expense payments to two athletes or their immediate families.

Byners noted that the university started an investigation of its own, "which was very effective," and took action once the facts in the case were uncovered.

The action against Missouri did not affect the eligibility of its athletic teams in taking part in bowl games or NCAA championship events. Byers said the action was taken because of an $83 ticket purchased by an alumnus representing the university for a prospective athlete on a loan basis. He did not identify the athlete who received the loan.

The NCAA, while declining to reduce the probation against New Mexico State, agreed to a review of the case in 1964 instead of 1965 as originally set.

Donovan Wins 4th As Indians Turn Back Twins, 7-2

Tigers, Yanks, Chisox And A's Post Victories

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Donovan, who's made more stops than a local bus, may have found himself a home with the Cleveland Indians.

The tall, veteran right-hander, one of four players the Indians acquired when they dealt fiery Jimmy Piersall to the Washington Senators, is one of the principal reasons the Indians are leading the American League.

He chalked up his fourth victory in an unbeaten season with a solid, six-hit 7-2 triumph over the Minnesota Twins Friday night that kept the Indians a game ahead of the pack.

In the others, all night games, Detroit punished Los Angeles 13-4, New York outlasted Washington 10-8, Chicago beat Boston 7-4 and Kansas City routed Baltimore 14-5.

Donovan, who worked with five minor league teams and has divided his time in the majors with the old Boston Braves, Detroit and the Chicago White Sox, now looms as the key figure in the Piersall trade.

The soft-spoken Donovan, who specializes in pin-point control and breaking stuff, had a four-hit shutout going into the ninth, but home runs by Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles spoiled his bid.

By that time, however, his new mates had staked him to a 7-0 lead and the 34-year-old veteran had plenty of working room. A two-run homer by Woody Held in the second inning was the big blow.

One of the season's better rhubarbs and a $50 fine enlivened the Detroit-Los Angeles affair. It started when Joe Nuxhall hit Tiger Norm Cash in the back with a pitched ball. Plate umpire Ed Runge immediately walked to the mound and informed Nuxhall he was fined $50.

Nuxhall threw the ball into the first base stands. Second base umpire Ed Hurley thumbed him out. Angel Manager Bill Rigney began a wild protest. Out he went, too. And before it was over, Chuck Tanner, also of Los Angeles, got the gate.

Angel outfielders Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner later were subjected to a shower of beer cans and other rubbish from the stands when they took their defensive positions.

A seven-run second inning got the Tigers off and running. Billy Bruton, Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito each drove in three runs. Jim Bunning (2-0) won it and Ken McBride (1-3) was the loser.

New York established a 9-0 lead in the top of the fourth, then spent the rest of the evening fighting off rallies by the Senators who lost their 10th straight. Clete Boyer, Roger Maris and Elston Howard had homers for the Yankees, Boyer's with the bases loaded. Bill Stafford (1-2) got the victory and Pete Burnside (1-1) lost.

Nellie Fox, who doubled in the first run for the White Sox, hit a two-run single in the seventh that knocked in the tying and winning runs off Arnold Earley (0-2). Frank Baumann (2-0), who came on in the third, won it with Ed Fisher's help over the final two innings.

Gino Cimoli led the A's 18-hit offensive against the Orioles' Art Quick (1-1) and three successors with two triples, a pair of doubles and a single. Ed Rakow (3) got the victory, leaving in the ninth when his arm stiffened. Diego Sequi finished.

3 Ejected As Beer Cans Fly In Detroit Rhubarb

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Rigney's fury didn't abate until long after his Los Angeles Angels had been trounced and another Tiger Stadium rhubarb and missile barrage had ended.

In order, he took on the umpires, Detroit's unruly fans and sports writers Friday night. The fans and sports writers received a verbal barrage. Umpire Ed Hurley had his toes stepped on during a shoving match in the sixth inning after a hit-batsman incident ignited a wild scene.

Rigney and two of his players were ejected by Hurley and plate umpire Ed Runge.

It started when a ball thrown by pitcher Joe Nuxhall hit batting champion Norm Cash in the back while the Detroit Tigers were adding to their lead in a 13-4 victory.

Runge warned Nuxhall and fined him $50. The pitcher angrily threw the ball into the stands. Hurley ejected him. Rigney argued vehemently. Hurley ejected him. A fan stepped on the field and had to be restrained from tangling with Nuxhall. Chuck Tanner threw a towel from the Angel dugout. Runge ejected him.

In the outfield, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner ran for cover. They were pelted from the stands by assorted missiles, mostly empty beer cans. When they returned to their positions they wore batting helmets for protection. It was similar to the bombardment of New York Yankee home run king Roger Maris two weeks ago.

In the clubhouse after the game, Rigney fumed.

"Those fans are terrible," he yelled. "Why can't the police do something about it? It's awful. It's dangerous."

"Were Thomas or Wagner hit with anything?" a sports writer asked.

"What do you mean by that?" bellowed the angered Angel manager. "What do you mean? What does it matter if they were hit or not? Somebody can get killed out there. It should be stopped."

In another room, Runge gave his side of the rhubarb that set off the wild display. He said:

"In my opinion, Nuxhall threw at Cash. I went out and fined him $50 in accordance with league rules. I turned my back and he threw the ball into the stands.

"Hurley saw it and threw him out. Rigney came out and deliberately—I said deliberately—stepped on Hurley's feet. And Hurley pushed him away and threw him out. I threw Tanner out because he threw a towel from the dugout."

Joe Campbell Leads Texas Open By One

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Joe Campbell's big concern these days is coming into the 18th green leading a tournament and having to quit when his back locks up on him.

Campbell, the husky blond belter from Pendleton, Ind., put himself in position for such a catastrophy Friday when he fired a 3-under-par 68 to take over the lead in the $30,000 Texas Open.

Campbell, with 135 for 36 holes, is one stroke to the good over Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and favorite. Palmer put on another of his great finishes to snap back from near disaster on the first three holes. He banged five birdies the rest of the way to post a 69 for 136.

Campbell speaks freely of his back ailment. He has an extra bone growth and has been working all year to prevent an operation so he can continue on the golf tour. He is in traction every night.

"If the thing knots up it can keep me from even stooping over," he said. "I sure hope it can be straightened out without an operation because I want to stay on the tour."

Leaders at 36 holes:

Joe Campbell	67-68—135
Arnold Palmer	67-69—136

Fernandez, Giambra To Clash In TV Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Florentine Fernandez, with a rebuilt nose, meets Joey Giambra tonight in a nationally-televised (ABC) fight scheduled for ten rounds that will be a critical test for both.

The winner is expected to get a shot at Denny Moyer in New York on May 26. Moyer recently beat Sugar Ray Robinson.

Fernandez, who has not fought since January when Dick Tiger bashed in his nose, wanted Tiger again but had to meet Giambra first.

New York State Denies Liston License To Fight

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Floyd Patterson - Sonny Liston heavyweight title bout is a fight without a home today. But there seems to be no shortage of cities willing to adopt the multimillion-dollar orphan.

The New York State Athletic Commission ran the controversial, widely ballyhooed fight out of town Friday by refusing Liston a license, citing his record and choice of associates. Until the commission's ruling, the match had been slated for Yankee Stadium or Polo Grounds in September.

Championship Sports, Inc., the promoters, immediately began shopping around for another location. A spokesman said Philadelphia, Liston's home town, Chicago, Los Angeles and Seattle, currently staging a world's fair, were possibilities.

Indications from officials in Philadelphia, Chicago and Seattle were that those cities would welcome the bout.

Douglas Hayden, California athletic commission chairman, said the state's stand on Liston was "pretty much like New York."

"The history of Liston's past associations form a pattern of suspicion," the New York commission statement said, "and wrong people do not disengage easily."

Among the past associations the statement named were Frank (Blinky) Palermo of Philadelphia and John Vitale and Frank Mitchell of St. Louis, all of whom have long arrest records.

Liston himself has been arrested nine times and convicted twice — of first-degree robbery in 1950 and of assault for intent to kill in 1956. He served three years of a 5-year sentence in Missouri State Penitentiary on the robbery conviction and was given a nine-month workhouse sentence on the assault charge.

"The New York decision doesn't concern me," Liston said in Philadelphia. "I'll go on training for the fight as if nothing had happened."

At his training camp in Highland Mills, N.Y., Patterson expressed sympathy for Liston. "What's he done? He's already served his time. I feel sorry for him."

Patterson's attorney, Julius November, contended that the commission's action technically washed out the contract signed March 16. November pointed out that the contract gave the champion the right to pick the site, that he picked New York and Liston now was unable to fulfill the terms.

Ohio High School Miler Cracks Record

CINCINNATI (AP) — Andy Schramm, a Deer Park High School senior, Friday night ran the mile in 4:19.7, fastest ever recorded for a high school miler in Ohio.

Achieved in the annual Lockland Relays, his mark does not constitute an official record. The state record of 4:24.1 was set by Mike Gallagher of Toledo Libbey in the 1961 state high school track meet at Columbus.

Reprimands Missouri U.

NCAA Puts Colorado U. On Two Years Probation

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association put the University of Colorado on two years probation Friday, reprimanded the University of Missouri and declined to reduce the three-year probation against New Mexico State University.

Colorado was banned from taking part in postseason bowl football games or appearing on the NCAA football television series. No other sports are involved.

The Colorado penalty stemmed from a slush fund operated by Everett Grandelius, football coach until his dismissal March 17.

The NCAA censured and reprimanded Missouri—without penalties—for giving a prospective athlete an interest-free loan.

The president and vice president of New Mexico State asked for reduction of its probation received last Jan. 11 for violating a rule to advise a college or junior college when an athlete is attracted from other schools.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said the Colorado infractions included improper financial assistance during 1959-61 to 21 students football athletes; football coaches causing grant-in-aid assistance to three athletes to be reduced or terminated; and members of the football staff arranging for medical expense payments to two athletes or their immediate families.

Byners noted that the university started an investigation of its own, "which was very effective," and took action once the facts in the case were uncovered.

The action against Missouri did not affect the eligibility of its athletic teams in taking part in bowl games or NCAA championship events. Byers said the action was taken because of an $83 ticket purchased by an alumnus representing the university for a prospective athlete on a loan basis. He did not identify the athlete who received the loan.

The NCAA, while declining to reduce the probation against New Mexico State, agreed to a review of the case in 1964 instead of 1965 as originally set.

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday made application to the State Department of Personnel for an examination for superintendent and matron at the L. M. Kyes Memorial Home in East Palestine.

Robert Bycroft, county welfare director, who has jurisdiction, is to operate the home, which is being reopened. He is waiting for a license to operate the home. The commissioners requested that they be allowed to keep more than seven children in the home, which the first license specified, so that the home could be operated more economically.

Requirements for the positions will be man and wife, with no children living with them at present. Any person interested in taking the examination may contact the welfare department.

It is expected that it will take the personnel department about six weeks to set up the examination, but Bycroft said he hopes that if the license is issued he can find someone to fill the positions until examinations are given.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Patzsch of Wellsville were superintendent and matron before the home was closed because of excessive costs.

The machine is stamped with a patent date of 1873. It was restored to working order by students of an industrial arts class at Stanton Local High School. Bill Sherwood, the owner, demonstrates the operation of the antique saw for William McCullough, center, and Jeff Biacco. McCullough, industrial arts instructor, is collecting antique tools.

Industry's CD Council Meets

Parliamentary procedure was discussed at a meeting of the Industry Civil Defense Emergency Welfare Council Thursday night in the borough building.

Mrs. Jack M. Peck, council chief, introduced guests from the Baden CD unit, including Mrs. Henry Czarnecki, Mrs. Leo Neilsen, Mrs. Joseph Makowski and Mayor John Hogan, who participated in the discussion.

Mrs. Sam Hawthorne, Mrs. Max Williams and Mrs. Leroy Dunn were welcomed as new volunteers and were appointed as mass care deputy of housing, deputy of food and emergency mass care co-ordinator, respectively.

The unit, currently sponsoring the standard Red Cross first aid course each Friday in the Industry firehall, plans to schedule an advance course.

CD arm bands and hat emblems will be ordered for members.

The unit will participate in the Midland July 4th parade.

Due to the absence of Mrs. Donald Luster, speaker, the topic, "Emergency Housekeeping," will be reviewed at the next meeting May 31 at 7:30 p.m. in the borough building.

Mrs. Robert Dodds and Mrs. Gilbert Popp will be social co-chairmen.

The entire seventh grade, about 204 pupils, will board four buses May 18 for a tour of county historical sites. They will visit Morgan's Monument near West Point and the route of the Sandy & Beaver Canal, lunch at Lake Guilford and stop at Fort Tuscaroras. Prutton and Chester Urbschat will accompany them.

The school's Science Club, about 80 pupils, will visit Pittsburgh May 12 with Theodore Taylor, science co-ordinator, in charge. The club will visit the Buhl Planetarium and Carnegie Museum.

Industry's CD Council Meets

Parliamentary procedure was discussed at a meeting of the Industry Civil Defense Emergency Welfare Council Thursday night in the borough building.

Mrs. Jack M. Peck, council chief, introduced guests from the Baden CD unit, including Mrs. Henry Czarnecki, Mrs. Leo Neilsen, Mrs. Joseph Makowski and Mayor John Hogan, who participated in the discussion.

Mrs. Sam Hawthorne, Mrs. Max Williams and Mrs. Leroy Dunn were welcomed as new volunteers and were appointed as mass care deputy of housing, deputy of food and emergency mass care co-ordinator, respectively.

The unit, currently sponsoring the standard Red Cross first aid course each Friday in the Industry firehall, plans to schedule an advance course.

CD arm bands and hat emblems will be ordered for members.

The unit will participate in the Midland July 4th parade.

Due to the absence of Mrs. Donald Luster, speaker, the topic, "Emergency Housekeeping," will be reviewed at the next meeting May 31 at 7:30 p.m. in the borough building.

Mrs. Robert Dodds and Mrs. Gilbert Popp will be social co-chairmen.

The entire seventh grade, about 204 pupils, will board four buses May 18 for a tour of county historical sites. They will visit Morgan's Monument near West Point and the route of the Sandy & Beaver Canal, lunch at Lake Guilford and stop at Fort Tuscaroras. Prutton and Chester Urbschat will accompany them.

For 1962-63 Term

Students At High School Begin Class Registration

East Liverpool High School students have started registering for courses for the 1962-63 term.

The registration is conducted by Deans Bert A. Dawson and Mrs. Ruth Connor through personal interviews with each student.

Students are given a form to note courses which he will take the next term, along with any recommendations concerning attendance at summer school.

Parents have been advised to check with their children to see the record.

Sixteen units of credit are required for graduation. To be classified as a senior in September, a student must have 12 academic credits. A half unit in health may be included in the 12 but credits earned in music or physical education do not count toward the required number.

A student must have seven credits at the beginning of the term to be classed as a junior and three are required to be a sophomore.

In computing credits toward graduation, only one unit in typing may be used. A credit is earned in both Typing I and Typing II but state regulations permit the use of only one unit of typing in the 16 required for graduation.

Summer school classes will begin June 11, the Monday following the end of the present term and a week earlier than usual.

Classes will meet three hours a day, five days a week for eight weeks. A student who misses more than two days in either of the two four-week semesters cannot receive credit for that semester.

Courses expected to be offered this summer are world history, American history, American government, economics and English II, which were offered last year.

If there is sufficient demand, English III may be offered. However, students are not permitted to take English as a new subject in summer school. Only those who have failed the course are permitted to enroll.

A typing course also may be available this summer, but it will not be for repeaters.

About 25 per cent of the high school students took summer courses last year, the majority enrolling to complete a requirement so they could enroll in an elective course last fall.

Motorist Crashes— Into His Wife's Auto

What happens when a motorist hits another car driven by his wife?

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol provided the answer Friday night when they arrested a Columbiana man for unsafe operation for doing just that.

Officers said a car driven by William Camp, 24, of S. Vine St., Columbiana, struck one driven by his wife, Mrs. Marilyn J. Camp, 21, at the intersection of County Road 440 and Route 14 at 11:10 p. m. about one and three-tenths miles east of Columbiana.

The officers were behind the two vehicles when the accident occurred. Mrs. Camp halted for a stop sign at the intersection. Her husband pulled around and cut in too sharply, scraping the left front fender of her car.

Casey Stengal's Biography Among New Library Books

The most popular of American games is memorialized through biographies of four of its most controversial players and managers among new books at the Carnegie Public Library.

Laced with the famous Stengalese cracks is Frank Graham's "Casey Stengel, His half Century in Baseball." Stengel's successor with the Yankees, Ralph Houk, was trailed with a tape recorder during his past two seasons. "Ballplayers are Human Too" is the result of editing the tapes by Charles Dexter. A famous big league hitter, Rogers Hornsby tells all in "My War With Baseball." Leroy (Satchel) Page was 40 when he finally made it to the big leagues. He has related his story, "Maybe I'll Pitch Forever," to David Lipman, a fascinating yarn about his slow climb up and his battle with race prejudice.

If baseball is not your game, the new bookshelf boasts other lures. Phil Galvano, well known teacher, has written "Secrets of the Perfect Golf Swing." Charles Goren has compiled the official rules and pointers on 500 games. His "Goren's Hoyle" includes the latest laws of contract bridge.

A trio of widely known novelists are represented among this week's new arrivals:

Frank Slaughter's fans will be glad to learn that he has returned to the medical scene in "Tomorrow's Miracle," tale of a young doctor who struggled up from poverty to success with a wealthy practice, only to find that was not what he wanted; the author of "Beach Red," Peter Bowman, still is writing about World War II, but the new novel, "Condition Three," deals with Nazi POW's in a mental hospital, and Frank Swinnerton probes the current English literary scene in "Death of a Highbrow."

Two newer novelists are also included in the fiction offerings. Francis King writes a love story of modern-day Japan in "The Custom House," featuring an Australian missionary who falls for a strip teaser and an English professor who comes under the spell of a lovely Japanese girl; a young novelist from Georgia, Marguerite Steedman, has returned to original sources in the Latin for material about Joseph of Arimathea, the subject of "Refuge In Avalon."

Adding variety to the bookshelf is a biography of the widely discussed conservative, "Barry Goldwater." Stephen Shadegg, a Phoenix friend, is the author.

Frank Gilbreth's name can always assure the reader of good fun ahead and his current book is no exception, "He's My Boy." He believes that he is having more fun with his 4-year-old son, since he is a child of middle age. He takes Teddy to a Nantucket Gilbreth reunion where he is met by three cars with 17 people, two dogs, one cat and a caged parakeet.

Edward Masters is director of the KSU band, while Charles Temple led the senior band, and Oscar Gartrell, the training band. The KSU band presented an assembly and concert in the afternoon for students.

For 1962-63 Term

Students At High School Begin Class Registration

East Liverpool High School students have started registering for courses for the 1962-63 term.

The registration is conducted by Deans Bert A. Dawson and Mrs. Ruth Connor through personal interviews with each student.

Students are given a form to note courses which he will take the next term, along with any recommendations concerning attendance at summer school.

Parents have been advised to check with their children to see the record.

Sixteen units of credit are required for graduation. To be classified as a senior in September, a student must have 12 academic credits. A half unit in health may be included in the 12 but credits earned in music or physical education do not count toward the required number.

A student must have seven credits at the beginning of the term to be classed as a junior and three are required to be a sophomore.

In computing credits toward graduation, only one unit in typing may be used. A credit is earned in both Typing I and Typing II but state regulations permit the use of only one unit of typing in the 16 required for graduation.

Summer school classes will begin June 11, the Monday following the end of the present term and a week earlier than usual.

Classes will meet three hours a day, five days a week for eight weeks. A student who misses more than two days in either of the two four-week semesters cannot receive credit for that semester.

Courses expected to be offered this summer are world history, American history, American government, economics and English II, which were offered last year.

If there is sufficient demand, English III may be offered. However, students are not permitted to take English as a new subject in summer school. Only those who have failed the course are permitted to enroll.

A typing course also may be available this summer, but it will not be for repeaters.

About 25 per cent of the high school students took summer courses last year, the majority enrolling to complete a requirement so they could enroll in an elective course last fall.

Casey Stengal's Biography Among New Library Books

The most popular of American games is memorialized through biographies of four of its most controversial players and managers among new books at the Carnegie Public Library.

Laced with the famous Stengalese cracks is Frank Graham's "Casey Stengel, His half Century in Baseball." Stengel's successor with the Yankees, Ralph Houk, was trailed with a tape recorder during his past two seasons. "Ballplayers are Human Too" is the result of editing the tapes by Charles Dexter. A famous big league hitter, Rogers Hornsby tells all in "My War With Baseball." Leroy (Satchel) Page was 40 when he finally made it to the big leagues. He has related his story, "Maybe I'll Pitch Forever," to David Lipman, a fascinating yarn about his slow climb up and his battle with race prejudice.

If baseball is not your game, the new bookshelf boasts other lures. Phil Galvano, well known teacher, has written "Secrets of the Perfect Golf Swing." Charles Goren has compiled the official rules and pointers on 500 games. His "Goren's Hoyle" includes the latest laws of contract bridge.

A trio of widely known novelists are represented among this week's new arrivals:

Frank Slaughter's fans will be glad to learn that he has returned to the medical scene in "Tomorrow's Miracle," tale of a young doctor who struggled up from poverty to success with a wealthy practice, only to find that was not what he wanted; the author of "Beach Red," Peter Bowman, still is writing about World War II, but the new novel, "Condition Three," deals with Nazi POW's in a mental hospital, and Frank Swinnerton probes the current English literary scene in "Death of a Highbrow."

Two newer novelists are also included in the fiction offerings. Francis King writes a love story of modern-day Japan in "The Custom House," featuring an Australian missionary who falls for a strip teaser and an English professor who comes under the spell of a lovely Japanese girl; a young novelist from Georgia, Marguerite Steedman, has returned to original sources in the Latin for material about Joseph of Arimathea, the subject of "Refuge In Avalon."

Adding variety to the bookshelf is a biography of the widely discussed conservative, "Barry Goldwater." Stephen Shadegg, a Phoenix friend, is the author.

Frank Gilbreth's name can always assure the reader of good fun ahead and his current book is no exception, "He's My Boy." He believes that he is having more fun with his 4-year-old son, since he is a child of middle age. He takes Teddy to a Nantucket Gilbreth reunion where he is met by three cars with 17 people, two dogs, one cat and a caged parakeet.

400 Attend Concert Of Salineville Bands

SALINEVILLE — A crowd of 400 attended a concert by the training and senior bands of the high school, and the symphony band of Kent State University Friday night in the school auditorium.

Edward Masters is director of the KSU band, while Charles Temple led the senior band, and Oscar Gartrell, the training band. The KSU band presented an assembly and concert in the afternoon for students.

Cleared In Tax Case

WHEELING (AP) — John R. Hardesty of Yonkers, N. Y., was acquitted by a district federal court jury Friday of charges that he filed fraudulent corporate income tax returns for three Morgantown firms during 1955 and 1956.

Motorist Crashes— Into His Wife's Auto

What happens when a motorist hits another car driven by his wife?

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol provided the answer Friday night when they arrested a Columbiana man for unsafe operation for doing just that.

Officers said a car driven by William Camp, 24, of S. Vine St., Columbiana, struck one driven by his wife, Mrs. Marilyn J. Camp, 21, at the intersection of County Road 440 and Route 14 at 11:10 p. m. about one and three-tenths miles east of Columbiana.

The officers were behind the two vehicles when the accident occurred. Mrs. Camp halted for a stop sign at the intersection. Her husband pulled around and cut in too sharply, scraping the left front fender of her car.

Industry's CD Council Meets

Parliamentary procedure was discussed at a meeting of the Industry Civil Defense Emergency Welfare Council Thursday night in the borough building.

Mrs. Jack M. Peck, council chief, introduced guests from the Baden CD unit, including Mrs. Henry Czarnecki, Mrs. Leo Neilsen, Mrs. Joseph Makowski and Mayor John Hogan, who participated in the discussion.

Mrs. Sam Hawthorne, Mrs. Max Williams and Mrs. Leroy Dunn were welcomed as new volunteers and were appointed as mass care deputy of housing, deputy of food and emergency mass care co-ordinator, respectively.

The unit, currently sponsoring the standard Red Cross first aid course each Friday in the Industry firehall, plans to schedule an advance course.

CD arm bands and hat emblems will be ordered for members.

The unit will participate in the Midland July 4th parade.

Due to the absence of Mrs. Donald Luster, speaker, the topic, "Emergency Housekeeping," will be reviewed at the next meeting May 31 at 7:30 p.m. in the borough building.

Mrs. Robert Dodds and Mrs. Gilbert Popp will be social co-chairmen.

Field Trips Due At Beaver Local

Three history and science "expeditions" by Beaver Local Public School groups are scheduled next month, Roy Cashdollar, principal, announced.

The Buckeye History Club, numbering 53 seventh and eighth grade students, will travel by bus to Columbus May 12 for the annual Buckeye Historian convention.

Carl Prutton, sponsor of the local club, and Robert Donaldson of the faculty will accompany the group, which will enter some exhibits in the event. The club publishes a regular newspaper and makes other studies of Ohio Ohio history. Theme of the exhibits is "Ohio's Role In the Civil War."

The entire seventh grade, about 204 pupils, will board four buses May 18 for a tour of county historical sites. For 1962-63 Term

Students At High School Begin Class Registration

East Liverpool High School students have started registering for courses for the 1962-63 term.

The registration is conducted by Deans Bert A. Dawson and Mrs. Ruth Connor through personal interviews with each student.

Students are given a form to note courses which he will take the next term, along with any recommendations concerning attendance at summer school.

Parents have been advised to check with their children to see the record.

Sixteen units of credit are required for graduation. To be classified as a senior in September, a student must have 12 academic credits. A half unit in health may be included in the 12 but credits earned in music or physical education do not count toward the required number.

A student must have seven credits at the beginning of the term to be classed as a junior and three are required to be a sophomore.

In computing credits toward graduation, only one unit in typing may be used. A credit is earned in both Typing I and Typing II but state regulations permit the use of only one unit of typing in the 16 required for graduation.

Summer school classes will begin June 11, the Monday following the end of the present term and a week earlier than usual.

Classes will meet three hours a day, five days a week for eight weeks. A student who misses more than two days in either of the two four-week semesters cannot receive credit for that semester.

Courses expected to be offered this summer are world history, American history, American government, economics and English II, which were offered last year.

If there is sufficient demand, English III may be offered. However, students are not permitted to take English as a new subject in summer school. Only those who have failed the course are permitted to enroll.

A typing course also may be available this summer, but it will not be for repeaters.

About 25 per cent of the high school students took summer courses last year, the majority enrolling to complete a requirement so they could enroll in an elective course last fall.

Casey Stengal's Biography Among New Library Books

The most popular of American games is memorialized through biographies of four of its most controversial players and managers among new books at the Carnegie Public Library.

Laced with the famous Stengalese cracks is Frank Graham's "Casey Stengel, His half Century in Baseball." Stengel's successor with the Yankees, Ralph Houk, was trailed with a tape recorder during his past two seasons. "Ballplayers are Human Too" is the result of editing the tapes by Charles Dexter. A famous big league hitter, Rogers Hornsby tells all in "My War With Baseball." Leroy (Satchel) Page was 40 when he finally made it to the big leagues. He has related his story, "Maybe I'll Pitch Forever," to David Lipman, a fascinating yarn about his slow climb up and his battle with race prejudice.

If baseball is not your game, the new bookshelf boasts other lures. Phil Galvano, well known teacher, has written "Secrets of the Perfect Golf Swing." Charles Goren has compiled the official rules and pointers on 500 games. His "Goren's Hoyle" includes the latest laws of contract bridge.

A trio of widely known novelists are represented among this week's new arrivals:

Frank Slaughter's fans will be glad to learn that he has returned to the medical scene in "Tomorrow's Miracle," tale of a young doctor who struggled up from poverty to success with a wealthy practice, only to find that was not what he wanted; the author of "Beach Red," Peter Bowman, still is writing about World War II, but the new novel, "Condition Three," deals with Nazi POW's in a mental hospital, and Frank Swinnerton probes the current English literary scene in "Death of a Highbrow."

Two newer novelists are also included in the fiction offerings. Francis King writes a love story of modern-day Japan in "The Custom House," featuring an Australian missionary who falls for a strip teaser and an English professor who comes under the spell of a lovely Japanese girl; a young novelist from Georgia, Marguerite Steedman, has returned to original sources in the Latin for material about Joseph of Arimathea, the subject of "Refuge In Avalon."

Adding variety to the bookshelf is a biography of the widely discussed conservative, "Barry Goldwater." Stephen Shadegg, a Phoenix friend, is the author.

Frank Gilbreth's name can always assure the reader of good fun ahead and his current book is no exception, "He's My Boy." He believes that he is having more fun with his 4-year-old son, since he is a child of middle age. He takes Teddy to a Nantucket Gilbreth reunion where he is met by three cars with 17 people, two dogs, one cat and a caged parakeet.

Motorist Crashes— Into His Wife's Auto

What happens when a motorist hits another car driven by his wife?

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol provided the answer Friday night when they arrested a Columbiana man for unsafe operation for doing just that.

Officers said a car driven by William Camp, 24, of S. Vine St., Columbiana, struck one driven by his wife, Mrs. Marilyn J. Camp, 21, at the intersection of County Road 440 and Route 14 at 11:10 p. m. about one and three-tenths miles east of Columbiana.

The officers were behind the two vehicles when the accident occurred. Mrs. Camp halted for a stop sign at the intersection. Her husband pulled around and cut in too sharply, scraping the left front fender of her car.

OFF THE RECORD

"—Ran into an old friend of mine today that I've owed money to since our college days."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove scorch stains from a white shirt?

A. Scorch marks are not, strictly speaking, stains. They're burns. If not too serious, if treated in time, they may be removable. Sponge with a cloth dipped in peroxide, and then iron again. Or, cover with a cloth dipped in peroxide, put a dry cloth on top, and iron again.

Q. How can I prevent tarnishing in my silverware?

A. One way is to keep a piece of alum in your silverware drawer.

Q. How can I protect the backs of my mirrors from scratches?

A. By covering the mirror backs with a coat of clear shellac. Another reminder: The sun will cause mirrors to become cloudy — so be sure to hang them away from any direct sunlight.

Q. How can I clean some very old brass or copper that is quite discolored?

A. By using the finest of steel wool, followed by rottenstone and sweet oil.

Q. How can I remove crayon marks from wallpaper?

A. All traces of this type of "art work" are usually removed when lightly rubbed over with very fine steel wool. If done carefully, this will not damage your wallpaper.

Q. Is there any way I can repair asbestos roof shingles that have become broken at the corners?

A. You can make them look almost as good as new by gluing the broken piece back into place with white or matching calking cement.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANIMALS

QUESTION: What is meant by a "hand" in measuring a horse?

ANSWER: This is the width of an average man's hand, measuring from side to side across the base of the fingers. Long ago, men measured objects by their hands or feet. Obviously, what was four feet long to one man might be five feet long to another, because feet are different lengths, just as hands are different widths. Eventually, measurements were made standard. A hand length in measuring today is four inches. If you measure your own hand, you will probably find that it is not that wide. The hand is still the measuring unit for horses. Horses are measured from their hoofs, up the foreleg to the highest point between their shoulders. A really large horse is 17 hands high. This is five feet, eight inches, not including the head and neck. The very largest horses are 20 hands. A shetland pony is about nine or 10 hands high. If a horse is smaller than 14.2 hands, it is a pony. The majestic Arabian horse is about 15 hands. How tall is this in feet and inches?

Driver Fined On Old Crash

Peter J. Rom of Youngstown was find $25 and costs Friday in Municipal Court on charges filed by the State Highway Patrol as the aftermath of a collision six weeks ago on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road" at Kountz Ave.

Rom previously had pleaded "no contest" on the reckless operation charge in connection with the mishap March 12. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff took testimony today from the arresting officer and the defendant.

The patrol reported Rom's car crossed the medial strip of the four-lane highway, made a U-turn and was involved in a collision with an oncoming car.

Rom told the court he attempted to slow for a car ahead which was preparing to turn onto Kountz Ave. But his power brakes failed and the auxiliary mechanical brakes were inadequate, Rom testified. He said he dodged across the medial strip to miss the slowing car ahead.

Judge Chertoff continued until next Thursday morning the case of Ray Allison, 38, of Chester R. D. 1, cited by the patrol April 5 on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance after a collision on Route 30 in California Hollow.

Allison had pleaded not guilty April 13 and the case had been continued until yesterday to await the appearance of the arresting officer. When the patrolman did not appear, the court ordered the continuance.

A hearing is set Monday morning for Earl Hood, 28, of Steubenville, cited Thursday at 9:50 p. m. by Patrolman Paul Blevins for speeding 55 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on the River Rd. He posted a $32.50 appearance bond.

1 Killed, 1 Hurt In Blast, Blaze At Marietta Plant

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—Fumes from a phenol processing unit failure may have caused the explosion and fire at the big Union Carbide Corp. plastics plant near here Friday in which one man was killed.

Plant Manager J. A. Palmer said the cause has not been determined definitely, but added that fumes in the phenol unit apparently ignited. Phenol is a chemical raw material used in manufacturing plastic.

Palmer also said no estimate of the damage has been set. He said it may take several days to determine just how much damage was caused. The fire burned for several hours, although under control within two hours.

Killed by falling debris was Edward W. Johnson Jr., 42, of Vienna, W. Va.

Another workman, William Beardmore, 36, of Vincent, Ohio, was injured by debris and hospitalized. Two other men were hospitalized, but Palmer said they both have a history of heart conditions and the hospitalization was a precautionary measure.

To The Voters Of Hancock County

I am a candidate for the Board of Education in the Primaries on May 8. I'm taking this means to introduce myself and to acquaint you with my background and experience.

I am a native of Newell and attended Wells High School. I am a veteran of World War II, having served with the 85th Infantry Division in North Africa and Italy. I saw action in three major Italian Campaigns: Rome — Arno, North Appennines, and Po Valley.

I am married, and reside at 622 Grant Street. I have two sons, both in grade school, and my wife is the former Cora Elizabeth Pugh. My mother is Mrs. Ralph LaNeve, Sr., of 412 Jefferson Street.

I have taught school for nineteen years, eighteen years in Hancock County. Presently, I'm teaching in East Liverpool.

I am a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Chester, The Catholic Men's Club, Newell Post 114, The American Legion, The East Liverpool Teachers Association, the Ohio Education Association, and the National Education Association. I belong to Alpha Phi Sigma and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary fraternities in Education. I have served as Adjutant for Newell Post 114 for nine years and am serving as First District Chairman of the Department Highway Safety Committee.

I am a graduate of West Liberty State College, and received my Masters Degree in Education from West Virginia Universtiy. I have completed major requirements for the Doctor's Degree in Educational Administration from West Virginia University and the Universtity of Pittsburgh. I am quallified for a Principal's and Superintendent's Certificate.

Some of the Specialized technical courses I have taken which would implement my service to the County School System if I am elected are: School Laws for Teachers and Administrators, Organization and Administration of a School System, Business Administration of a School System, School Finance, School Buildings, Public School Relations, Elementary School Administration, Secondary School Administration, and Current Practices in School Administration.

In my work, I have prepared budgets and analyzed, appraised, and proposed practical measures for financial support of schools at the local level. I believe that this practical application of school finance, accounting, and budgeting would qualify me to serve efficiently as your School Board Representative.

In conclusion, exercise your right to vote on Election Day. Review the qualifications of your candidates and vote for the ones you feel best qualified.

Respectfully,
Anthony "Tony" Laneve

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove scorch stains from a white shirt?

A. Scorch marks are not, strictly speaking, stains. They're burns. If not too serious, if treated in time, they may be removable. Sponge with a cloth dipped in peroxide, and then iron again. Or, cover with a cloth dipped in peroxide, put a dry cloth on top, and iron again.

Q. How can I prevent tarnishing in my silverware?

A. One way is to keep a piece of alum in your silverware drawer.

Q. How can I protect the backs of my mirrors from scratches?

A. By covering the mirror backs with a coat of clear shellac. Another reminder: The sun will cause mirrors to become cloudy — so be sure to hang them away from any direct sunlight.

Q. How can I clean some very old brass or copper that is quite discolored?

A. By using the finest of steel wool, followed by rottenstone and sweet oil.

Q. How can I remove crayon marks from wallpaper?

A. All traces of this type of "art work" are usually removed when lightly rubbed over with very fine steel wool. If done carefully, this will not damage your wallpaper.

Q. Is there any way I can repair asbestos roof shingles that have become broken at the corners?

A. You can make them look almost as good as new by gluing the broken piece back into place with white or matching calking cement.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANIMALS

ANSWER: This is the width of an average man's hand, measuring from side to side across the base of the fingers. Long ago, men measured objects by their hands or feet. Obviously, what was four feet long to one man might be five feet long to another, because feet are different lengths, just as hands are different widths. Eventually, measurements were made standard. A hand length in measuring today is four inches. If you measure your own hand, you will probably find that it is not that wide. The hand is still the measuring unit for horses. Horses are measured from their hoofs, up the foreleg to the highest point between their shoulders. A really large horse is 17 hands high. This is five feet, eight inches, not including the head and neck. The very largest horses are 20 hands. A shetland pony is about nine or 10 hands high. If a horse is smaller than 14.2 hands, it is a pony. The majestic Arabian horse is about 15 hands. How tall is this in feet and inches?

FOR YOU TO DO: Men have built up strange customs in dealing with horses. One of these is the unit of measuring them. Another is the method of counting their birthdays. See what you can find out about how a horse's birthday is determined.

RIO RANCHO ESTATES slopes along one of the greenest, most fertile valleys in the world, the Valley of the Rio Grande. The gently rolling land is so fertile it awaits only your touch to produce luscious fruits and vegetables—exotic floral gardens ablaze with beauty. And all around you, you'll thrill to "picture window" views of majestic mountains that soar in the distance—the silvery Rio Grande that winds by your door—the gleaming skyline of Albuquerque that lights up at night like a fairyland of color!

Along with your neighbors in RIO RANCHO ESTATES you will enjoy exclusive country club privileges, including community club house and swimming pool facilities, sun decks, bridle paths, park and athletic areas—all available to you and your family without dues or membership fees required. Yes, year-'round "fun in the sun" right on the property!

THE BEST OF TWO WORLDS! SUBURBAN PLEASURES—PLUS BIG-CITY CONVENIENCES!

RIO RANCHO ESTATES is only five minutes away from one of the fastest-growing, friendliest "sunshine resort" cities in the world. In metropolitan Albuquerque you'll find the finest in educational, cultural and medical facilities—religious, social and fraternal activities—well-stocked shops and department stores—a big university, theatres, restaurants, rodeos, fairs and fiestas, college and professional sports. A major city that offers well-paying part or full-time jobs plus a wealth of career and business opportunities—a world of culture; art, concerts, crafts and hobbies.

LET ALBUQUERQUE'S LAND BOOM MAKE MONEY FOR YOU!

If you had invested $1,000 in choice land at Albuquerque, New Mexico, 20 years ago, before the city's fantastic 700% population increase, your land today would be worth at least $20,000 to $30,000—with the end nowhere in sight. With 274,000 people living here today, and booming Albuquerque expected to add more people in the next nine years than in all its previous history . . . land prices which have been doubling and redoubling every few years, are now starting to skyrocket!

At this very moment you still have a chance to get in on the amazing profit potential of choice property at this booming Southwest resort paradise for as little as $1 down, $10 a month. A chance for you to own a rambling ranch-type estate in a scenic Western setting along the banks of the romantic Rio Grande River, where hundreds of friendly families are now building homes . . . an area so attractive, so desirable, and growing so rapidly that land today is bringing as much as $4500 or more an acre right up to our property lines!

NOW COMES YOUR CHANCE TO BUY LAND FOR PENNIES ON THE DOLLAR!

Yes, with competitive land already $4,500 to $12,000 an acre, right up to our very doors, the one and only place at Albuquerque where you can still buy choice homesite land at far below current market prices is RIO RANCHO ESTATES, where you pay pennies instead of dollars in comparison with every other choice piece of land in sight. Only $795 for a half-acre site! You get a big piece of property equal to more than 10½ standard 20′ x 100′ city lots . . . at a low, low price that figures out to less than $74 a lot. Nowhere else in the entire Southwest can you buy a choice ½-acre site so low in price—so close to a major city—and on easy terms as low as $10 monthly.

THIS LAND BARGAIN CAN'T BE MATCHED ANYWHERE IN THE SOUTHWEST

Why is RIO RANCHO ESTATES the only real-estate development at any major Southwest city where you can still buy choice land for less than thousands of dollars an acre? Because of our HUGE-VOLUME, LOW-MARKUP policy, which has made us one of America's largest, most successful land developers. Now here is your chance to take advantage of the fortune-building opportunities of the big-city land boom at Albuquerque, on exactly the same $10 monthly terms you may see advertised for remote "middle of nowhere" acreage where land values creep instead of leap, because they may be 30 to 120 miles from a major city.

STAKE OUT YOUR CLAIM NOW TO THIS GOLDEN FUTURE

Whether for investment, a new life now, or for eventual retirement, you can make Albuquerque's golden future your future. It's easy to take advantage of this special offer. There's absolutely no risk or obligation on your part at all.

The Reservation Coupon, accompanied by a refundable $1 good faith deposit, reserves a valuable ½-acre or larger estate for you at beautiful RIO RANCHO ESTATES. We'll rush you a free Property Owner's Kit containing a RECORDED LAND MAP showing the exact site we have chosen for you, along with descriptions in such detail it's like standing on the property at RIO RANCHO ESTATES and inspecting the land yourself.

6-MONTH MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

You must be completely delighted with your ranch estate or your dollar back at once, with no questions asked. What's more, if you should visit your ranchsite anytime within 6 months and aren't even more delighted with your purchase, you get back every penny in full.

Remember, this is choice Albuquerque property where land prices are starting to skyrocket in response to the twin pressures of inflation and a fantastic "population explosion." With property values rising all around us we cannot hold down our prices indefinitely. Therefore, this may be your one and only chance to obtain one of these choice homesites before our scheduled price rise of $200 goes into effect.

The reservation form plus your dollar refundable deposit is your key to a bright and golden future. Use it now—you have everything to gain, nothing to lose. Mail the coupon today!

Driver Fined On Old Crash

Peter J. Rom of Youngstown was find $25 and costs Friday in Municipal Court on charges filed by the State Highway Patrol as the aftermath of a collision six weeks ago on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road" at Kountz Ave.

Rom previously had pleaded "no contest" on the reckless operation charge in connection with the mishap March 12. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff took testimony today from the arresting officer and the defendant.

The patrol reported Rom's car crossed the medial strip of the four-lane highway, made a U-turn and was involved in a collision with an oncoming car.

Rom told the court he attempted to slow for a car ahead which was preparing to turn onto Kountz Ave. But his power brakes failed and the auxiliary mechanical brakes were inadequate, Rom testified. He said he dodged across the medial strip to miss the slowing car ahead.

Judge Chertoff continued until next Thursday morning the case of Ray Allison, 38, of Chester R. D. 1, cited by the patrol April 5 on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance after a collision on Route 30 in California Hollow.

Allison had pleaded not guilty April 13 and the case had been continued until yesterday to await the appearance of the arresting officer. When the patrolman did not appear, the court ordered the continuance.

A hearing is set Monday morning for Earl Hood, 28, of Steubenville, cited Thursday at 9:50 p. m. by Patrolman Paul Blevins for speeding 55 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on the River Rd. He posted a $32.50 appearance bond.

1 Killed, 1 Hurt In Blast, Blaze At Marietta Plant

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—Fumes from a phenol processing unit failure may have caused the explosion and fire at the big Union Carbide Corp. plastics plant near here Friday in which one man was killed.

Plant Manager J. A. Palmer said the cause has not been determined definitely, but added that fumes in the phenol unit apparently ignited. Phenol is a chemical raw material used in manufacturing plastic.

Palmer also said no estimate of the damage has been set. He said it may take several days to determine just how much damage was caused. The fire burned for several hours, although under control within two hours.

Killed by falling debris was Edward W. Johnson Jr., 42, of Vienna, W. Va.

Another workman, William Beardmore, 36, of Vincent, Ohio, was injured by debris and hospitalized. Two other men were hospitalized, but Palmer said they both have a history of heart conditions and the hospitalization was a precautionary measure.

To The Voters Of Hancock County

I am a candidate for the Board of Education in the Primaries on May 8. I'm taking this means to introduce myself and to acquaint you with my background and experience.

I am a native of Newell and attended Wells High School. I am a veteran of World War II, having served with the 85th Infantry Division in North Africa and Italy. I saw action in three major Italian Campaigns: Rome — Arno, North Appennines, and Po Valley.

I am married, and reside at 622 Grant Street. I have two sons, both in grade school, and my wife is the former Cora Elizabeth Pugh. My mother is Mrs. Ralph LaNeve, Sr., of 412 Jefferson Street.

I have taught school for nineteen years, eighteen years in Hancock County. Presently, I'm teaching in East Liverpool.

I am a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Chester, The Catholic Men's Club, Newell Post 114, The American Legion, The East Liverpool Teachers Association, the Ohio Education Association, and the National Education Association. I belong to Alpha Phi Sigma and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary fraternities in Education. I have served as Adjutant for Newell Post 114 for nine years and am serving as First District Chairman of the Department Highway Safety Committee.

I am a graduate of West Liberty State College, and received my Masters Degree in Education from West Virginia Universtiy. I have completed major requirements for the Doctor's Degree in Educational Administration from West Virginia University and the Universtity of Pittsburgh. I am quallified for a Principal's and Superintendent's Certificate.

Some of the Specialized technical courses I have taken which would implement my service to the County School System if I am elected are: School Laws for Teachers and Administrators, Organization and Administration of a School System, Business Administration of a School System, School Finance, School Buildings, Public School Relations, Elementary School Administration, Secondary School Administration, and Current Practices in School Administration.

In my work, I have prepared budgets and analyzed, appraised, and proposed practical measures for financial support of schools at the local level. I believe that this practical application of school finance, accounting, and budgeting would qualify me to serve efficiently as your School Board Representative.

In conclusion, exercise your right to vote on Election Day. Review the qualifications of your candidates and vote for the ones you feel best qualified.

Respectfully,
Anthony "Tony" Laneve

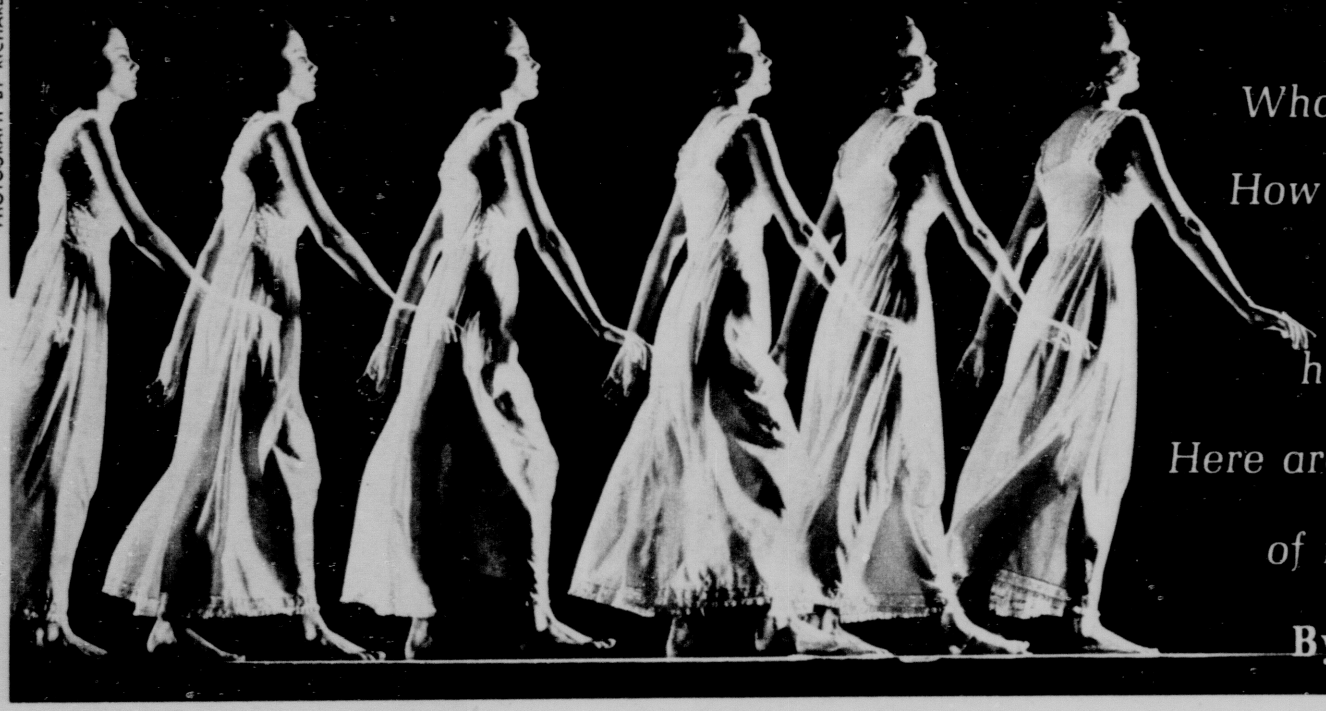
WHY DO THEY WALK BY NIGHT?



PHOTOGRAPH BY RICHARD CHECANI

What causes sleepwalking?
How dangerous is it?
What should you do if it happens in your family?
Here are the latest answers of medical science

By JAMES C. G. CONNIFF

THE MOTHER of a 10-year-old New Jersey boy heard her son's bedroom door open about 1:30 a.m. She waited, half-awake, for the click of the bathroom light switch. It didn't come. Instead, the stairs creaked.

Puzzled, she investigated and found the boy downstairs in the dark, headed for the playroom. Although she was a bit frightened herself, she cautiously touched his cheek and said, "Can I help you, son?"

The little boy began to murmur something about having forgotten to "put the toys away." Then he suddenly awoke with a start.

Tenderly, his mother put her arms around him. When he had calmed down a bit, she said, "You've been sleepwalking, dear; it's nothing to worry about." Then she led him back to his bedroom and talked to him until he fell asleep.

The boy has not walked in his sleep since. But his mother cannot get the incident out of her mind. She keeps wondering: Will it happen again? Is there something wrong with my son?

For such mothers, medical science has some new and reassuring answers.

Investigators are now certain that sleepwalking is not a disease. It is a symptom—and generally it merely indicates that the sleepwalker is undergoing some temporary personal crisis that he could not resolve before going to bed.

For example, the New Jersey boy had quarreled with his brothers and sisters about who should put their toys away. Then he had gone to bed in tears without knowing whether the job had been done. With the crisis resolved, it is unlikely that he will walk in his sleep again.

All cases of sleepwalking are not this simple. Sometimes a deep-seated emotional disturbance —or a brain injury—may be involved.

Another dark side to the picture is that sleepwalkers can endanger themselves and others.

It is true that sleepwalkers have survived walks along the ledges of high buildings. But they also have killed or injured themselves by falling.

What's more, in rare cases they have killed or injured others. An entire family was shot by a sleepwalker who dreamed robbers were breaking into his house. And, while sleepwalking, a mother dreamed her house was on fire and flung her baby out a window.

The American Medical Association estimates that between two and four million Americans, mostly children, sleepwalk at one time or another.

Because people are shy about discussing such occurrences, the number may be much higher. On any given night, several hundred thousand of us with problems on our minds may be up and about trying to solve them—without knowing it.

A SLEEPWALKER may walk for miles. Or he may take a ferry and wake up miles from home, as a New Yorker did not long ago. Or he may drive a car with an unfamiliar shift along a busy turnpike for 23 miles, the way a West Coast mother did. Her car stalled and she woke up punching the dashboard trying to make it start again.

The U.S. Navy recently completed a study of sleepwalkers among its recruits and found that they are usually intelligent, active persons who are in good health.

Navy doctors also confirmed by observation that the sleepwalker has a built-in safety mechanism which guides him unharmed around obstacles—most of the time. Like others who have witnessed sleepwalking, they noted that the walker keeps his arms at his side, not stretched out in front of him. Furthermore, he shows no reaction when bright light is shone directly into his wide-open eyes or loud noises are made near him. Only touching the victim will wake him fully.

The Navy researchers also saw proof of the new theory that sleepwalking is "incomplete sleep with varying degrees of consciousness." No matter what tricks chronic sleepwalkers used to restrain their wanderings—such as locking the door or tying themselves to a doorknob, radiator, or bed—they were always just enough awake to overcome the hindrance and depart.

WHEN a history of sleepwalking exists, especially in an adult, a medical checkup is generally advised.

The doctor will probably prescribe a mild sedative. He may also recommend such simple steps as a rearrangement of sleeping habits or a change in diet. Unless there is something gravely wrong with the person, these measures should end the sleepwalking.

Dr. W. Wallace Grant of the University of Manitoba's Children's Hospital reminds parents that youngsters take comfort in routine and should be put to bed at a regular hour. This, together with the reassurance of parents' presence at bedtime, can do much to eliminate sleepwalking.

Dr. Grant says that when a child does sleepwalk he should be gently awakened unless he is in a place of danger where his reaction might cause injury. In that case, the awakening should be postponed until he can be led out of danger. Once awake, he should be told what has happened.

But don't explain so much that you dramatize this transient symptom. If you do, the child may subconsciously be tempted to try it again—just to be the center of attention.

The Riddle of Sleepwalking:

Meet Scott Carpenter—

Our Next Man in Space

Here is an intimate glimpse of this astronaut who finds romance and glory in flying—and the wife who shares his adventures

gram, his wife is even more so. Mrs. Marjorie Slayton, for instance, has always maintained that the astronauts' wives had been preconditioned by their husbands' experience as test pilots.

On the other hand, Rene Carpenter tells how she used to watch the kitchen clock when Scott was testing planes in Maryland. Each minute he was late convinced her that Scott had crashed. Does she feel differently now? "I still have some qualms," she says.

Scott trained as a Navy flier in the closing years of World War II, then returned to Boulder to study aeronautical engineering at the University of Colorado, where he met Rene. He supplemented his GI aid by work as a lumberjack, hod carrier, and jackhammer operator, which probably accounts for the exceptional development of shoulders, chest, and biceps on his otherwise slender frame. Even now he is an extraordinary gymnast who can climb a 20-foot rope hand-over-hand in a few seconds and perform effortlessly on exercise bars.

THE COUPLE makes a point of the fact they have "worked" to make their marriage a success. "You can't take anything for granted that's important," Rene says, which sums up their methodical approach to everything from raising a family to discussing Scott's career.

As an example of "working" at marriage, Rene tells about their honeymoon. She and Scott isolated themselves from the world in a crude cabin deep in the Rockies. Scott chopped wood and added to their provisions by hunting and fishing. Rene learned her housekeeping with a minimum of conveniences. The experience, she says proudly, brought them closer together and helped shape their whole concept of marriage.

This concept includes long sessions discussing each other's problems over coffee or milk at the kitchen table. When Scott is away, which is often, he writes 17- or 20-page letters detailing each phase of his training. Rene responds with long diarylike letters.

In outward appearance, Rene seems to have a tendency to "take charge" of the Carpenter family, but intimates claim this is deceptive, resulting from Scott's habit of clamming up around casual acquaintances. In Navy parlance, friends say, he "runs a taut ship" in the privacy of his home.

"Scott is very conscious of the fact he doesn't get to spend as much time with his children as other fathers," says his mother. "Yet he's a strict disciplinarian with them. I think this is especially hard for a father who has to be away from home a lot and who has lost a young one." Timmy, the Carpenters' first-born, died in 1951.

THE CARPENTERS have succeeded so well in sharing their lives that Rene doesn't wait for husbandly instructions when a crisis arises. For example, Scott had returned to service in 1949 and, after Korean missions, became a Navy test pilot in Maryland. He wanted desperately to join the Mercury program, but felt he had only a slim chance because he had so little jet-flying experience—400 hours compared with the 1,600 to 2,500 hours of other astronauts.

Even more mortifying was his approaching assignment—two years of sea duty aboard an aircraft carrier and, worst of all, in a nonflying role. Just before his ship was to leave, Rene received word at home that, despite Scott's lack of jet experience, he could join Mercury if he was still interested. Rene didn't hesitate: she wired his acceptance first, informed Scott afterward.

The Carpenters live in a project-type duplex a short distance from the Manned Space Flight Center. They have four children, Mark Scott, 12, Robin Jay, 9, Kristen Elaine, 5, and Candace Noxon, 4. At the end of this school term, they will move to Houston, where the Space Center is being relocated.

"I think all the astronauts' wives are looking forward to the move," Rene says. "It'll be something permanent to work on, or so we hope. But we have so many other things to think of now."

In this case, the "we" is quite appropriate. As his mother and wife have said, astronaut Scott Carpenter shares his life with those he loves, and his coming adventure in space will be no exception.

RIO RANCHO ESTATES is only five minutes away from one of the fastest-growing, friendliest "sunshine resort" cities in the world. In metropolitan Albuquerque you'll find the finest in educational, cultural and medical facilities—religious, social and fraternal activities—well-stocked shops and department stores—a big university, theatres, restaurants, rodeos, fairs and fiestas, college and professional sports. A major city that offers well-paying part or full-time jobs plus a wealth of career and business opportunities—a world of culture; art, concerts, crafts and hobbies.

LET ALBUQUERQUE'S LAND BOOM MAKE MONEY FOR YOU!

If you had invested $1,000 in choice land at Albuquerque, New Mexico, 20 years ago, before the city's fantastic 700% population increase, your land today would be worth at least $20,000 to $30,000—with the end nowhere in sight. With 274,000 people living here today, and booming Albuquerque expected to add more people in the next nine years than in all its previous history . . . land prices which have been doubling and redoubling every few years, are now starting to skyrocket!

At this very moment you still have a chance to get in on the amazing profit potential of choice property at this booming Southwest resort paradise for as little as $1 down, $10 a month. A chance for you to own a rambling ranch-type estate in a scenic Western setting along the banks of the romantic Rio Grande River, where hundreds of friendly families are now building homes . . . an area so attractive, so desirable, and growing so rapidly that land today is bringing as much as $4500 or more an acre right up to our property lines!

NOW COMES YOUR CHANCE TO BUY LAND FOR PENNIES ON THE DOLLAR!

Yes, with competitive land already $4,500 to $12,000 an acre, right up to our very doors, the one and only place at Albuquerque where you can still buy choice homesite land at far below current market prices is RIO RANCHO ESTATES, where you pay pennies instead of dollars in comparison with every other choice piece of land in sight. Only $795 for a half-acre site! You get a big piece of property equal to more than 10½ standard 20′ x 100′ city lots . . . at a low, low price that figures out to less than $74 a lot. Nowhere else in the entire Southwest can you buy a choice ½-acre site so low in price—so close to a major city—and on easy terms as low as $10 monthly.

THIS LAND BARGAIN CAN'T BE MATCHED ANYWHERE IN THE SOUTHWEST

Why is RIO RANCHO ESTATES the only real-estate development at any major Southwest city where you can still buy choice land for less than thousands of dollars an acre? Because of our HUGE-VOLUME, LOW-MARKUP policy, which has made us one of America's largest, most successful land developers. Now here is your chance to take advantage of the fortune-building opportunities of the big-city land boom at Albuquerque, on exactly the same $10 monthly terms you may see advertised for remote "middle of nowhere" acreage where land values creep instead of leap, because they may be 30 to 120 miles from a major city.

STAKE OUT YOUR CLAIM NOW TO THIS GOLDEN FUTURE

Astronaut Scott Carpenter and his attractive wife Rene.

By JOHN KENT

WITHOUT any prearrangement, America's seven astronauts found themselves assembled in an unpretentious ranch home in a newly developed area of Newport News, Va., one evening last month.

The home, already upset by plans for an imminent move to Houston, Texas, belonged to Maj. Donald (Deke) Slayton. Five hours before, he had been told that a minor heart condition would prevent his being the second American to orbit the earth. That honor would go to Lieut. Comdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter, 37.

Like the other astronauts, Carpenter had been stunned by the news. He immediately drove to his home at Langley Air Force Base, picked up his ash-blonde wife, Rene, and went on to the Slaytons'. The other astronauts had done the same. Later, Scott Carpenter said: "We all knew Marge and Deke would need people around at a time like that—people who really understood what had happened."

While at the Slaytons', Carpenter excused himself and placed a call to his mother, Florence, in Boulder, Colo. "I'm in," he said simply.

In recalling the conversation, Scott's mother remembers him repeating, "What a terrible disappointment for him (Deke). What a disappointment!"

"I almost felt like crying myself," Mrs. Carpenter says. "It wasn't a long talk, but Scott always calls when something big happens, like when the babies were born. He has always been the kind to share things with me and his family. He's the outgoing kind—doesn't store up things inside. I think that's why they picked him for the Mercury project."

NOT EVERYBODY agrees with this mother's evaluation of her "outgoing" son. Interviewers, for example, have found him one of the more monosyllabic of the astronauts. In most cases, though, Scott's reticence is due to interviewers who have failed to ignite his sole consuming interest—flying. When it comes to this subject, he can be articulate and, unlike the other astronauts, who have perfected a cold-blooded, scientific exterior to Project Mercury, he can also be romantic about its dangers and glories.

"As far as I can recall," says a National Aeronautics and Space Administration official, "he has been the only one to express the idea of 'giving his life' to the conquest of space. He's also the only one who has talked much about there being glory in this business, and he isn't poised enough to cover up the fact he's human and kind of enjoys it."

If Carpenter is less impersonal about the space pro-

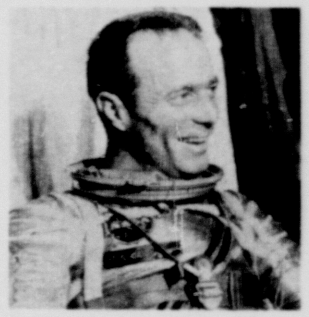
Our Next Man in Space

Here is an intimate glimpse of this astronaut who finds romance and glory in flying—and the wife who shares his adventures



gram, his wife is even more so. Mrs. Marjorie Slayton, for instance, has always maintained that the astronauts' wives had been preconditioned by their husbands' experience as test pilots.

On the other hand, Rene Carpenter tells how she used to watch the kitchen clock when Scott was testing planes in Maryland. Each minute he was late convinced her that Scott had crashed. Does she feel differently now? "I still have some qualms," she says.

Scott trained as a Navy flier in the closing years of World War II, then returned to Boulder to study aeronautical engineering at the University of Colorado, where he met Rene. He supplemented his GI aid by work as a lumberjack, hod carrier, and jackhammer operator, which probably accounts for the exceptional development of shoulders, chest, and biceps on his otherwise slender frame. Even now he is an extraordinary gymnast who can climb a 20-foot rope hand-over-hand in a few seconds and perform effortlessly on exercise bars.

THE COUPLE makes a point of the fact they have "worked" to make their marriage a success. "You can't take anything for granted that's important," Rene says, which sums up their methodical approach to everything from raising a family to discussing Scott's career.

As an example of "working" at marriage, Rene tells about their honeymoon. She and Scott isolated themselves from the world in a crude cabin deep in the Rockies. Scott chopped wood and added to their provisions by hunting and fishing. Rene learned her housekeeping with a minimum of conveniences. The experience, she says proudly, brought them closer together and helped shape their whole concept of marriage.

This concept includes long sessions discussing each other's problems over coffee or milk at the kitchen table. When Scott is away, which is often, he writes 17- or 20-page letters detailing each phase of his training. Rene responds with long diarylike letters.

In outward appearance, Rene seems to have a tendency to "take charge" of the Carpenter family, but intimates claim this is deceptive, resulting from Scott's habit of clamming up around casual acquaintances. In Navy parlance, friends say, he "runs a taut ship" in the privacy of his home.

"Scott is very conscious of the fact he doesn't get to spend as much time with his children as other fathers," says his mother. "Yet he's a strict disciplinarian with them. I think this is especially hard for a father who has to be away from home a lot and who has lost a young one." Timmy, the Carpenters' first-born, died in 1951.

THE CARPENTERS have succeeded so well in sharing their lives that Rene doesn't wait for husbandly instructions when a crisis arises. For example, Scott had returned to service in 1949 and, after Korean missions, became a Navy test pilot in Maryland. He wanted desperately to join the Mercury program, but felt he had only a slim chance because he had so little jet-flying experience—400 hours compared with the 1,600 to 2,500 hours of other astronauts.

Even more mortifying was his approaching assignment—two years of sea duty aboard an aircraft carrier and, worst of all, in a nonflying role. Just before his ship was to leave, Rene received word at home that, despite Scott's lack of jet experience, he could join Mercury if he was still interested. Rene didn't hesitate: she wired his acceptance first, informed Scott afterward.

The Carpenters live in a project-type duplex a short distance from the Manned Space Flight Center. They have four children, Mark Scott, 12, Robin Jay, 9, Kristen Elaine, 5, and Candace Noxon, 4. At the end of this school term, they will move to Houston, where the Space Center is being relocated.

"I think all the astronauts' wives are looking forward to the move," Rene says. "It'll be something permanent to work on, or so we hope. But we have so many other things to think of now."

In this case, the "we" is quite appropriate. As his mother and wife have said, astronaut Scott Carpenter shares his life with those he loves, and his coming adventure in space will be no exception.

Meet Dr. Janet Travell, White House physician, grandmother with amazing interests and achievements

She Guards the

SPECIALIZATION in medicine is fairly commonplace. But there's nothing commonplace about the area in which Dr. Janet Travell specializes. It is her job to see that the President of the United States remains in good health.

This is not to suggest that President John F. Kennedy is Dr. Travell's only patient. Quite the contrary is true. Dr. Travell also ministers to the health and medical needs of the President's family, although the Kennedy children have their own pediatrician; the larger White House family of about 500—maids, valets, secretaries, chauffeurs, garage workers, Secret Service men, the Signal Corpsmen; and, "if we can save them time," as Dr. Travell puts it, cabinet officers and other high-ranking Federal appointees.

The President is averse to too much medical supervision, but it is virtually impossible for him to escape Dr. Travell's sharp eye. His private elevator is directly opposite the doctor's office in the White House, and he must pass her door every time he enters or leaves the elevator. Her keen diagnostic eye can assess the state of his health from the way he looks and walks.

Even more than most men, Mr. Kennedy is a difficult patient who does not take easily to the rocking-chair routine or the tepid swimming pool.

He has never given top priority to taking care of himself. Rejected by the Army in World War II because of a football injury, Jack Kennedy trained until he was accepted by the Navy.

In 1943, when a Japanese destroyer rammed and sank his PT boat in the Solomons, slamming him against the deck, he nevertheless directed the rescue of his crew and swam for miles towing a badly burned crewman.

After a lumbar disc operation in 1944, he embarked on a political career and was elected to Congress in 1946 and to the U.S. Senate in 1952. By this time, his crippling back pain forced him to use crutches. In 1954 a second back operation was tried. Infection set in and his condition was so grave that he was given the last rites.

In 1955 a third operation removed the plate but not the pain. That April, he hobbled on crutches into Dr. Travell's office—and a new lease on life.

I first met Dr. Travell at the 1957 convention of the American Medical Association in New York City. Hurrying to her exhibit booth on "How to Give Painless Injections," I stopped for a quick look at an orthopedic back-rest display. The only other visitor was a large, amiable woman who was as easy to talk to as your next-door neighbor. She was full of fascinating facts about backs and chairs. Suddenly, realizing the hour, I said I must rush to catch Dr. Travell.

"You already have," the woman said with a wide smile. "I am Dr. Travell."

Long before she became a public figure, I had heard people turn emotional, almost reverent, at the mention of her name. Many, including President Kennedy, called her "a genius." One man, crippled for years by low back pain and already scheduled for major surgery, told me, "She studied my X rays and vetoed the operation; she gave me a couple of treatments with some needles, and I haven't had a pain since. That was eight years ago. I'd die for her."

Public Service at a Sacrifice

Immediately after the election, the Secret Service put her on call for whenever the President was out of Washington—as a general physician in case of accidents. She fitted easily into the Kennedy routine as a genial friend, attracting little attention from the press.

After her appointment as official White House physician, I asked Dr. Travell when she had decided to accept the post.

"There never was a decision," she replied. "After all, I'd been taking care of Mr. Kennedy for years. When the Secret Service put me on call, I knew I would be here all the time or running back and forth from New York, so I didn't accept any new patients after mid-November. Right after his inauguration the President told me, 'You'd better stay. It would make it a lot easier.' Of course, it was hard to leave New York and all my friends and patients."

There was no mention of the financial sacrifice, but at $50 a visit against this $20,000-a-year appointment, it must be considerable.

In many respects, Dr. Travell is an extraordinary woman. She is Associate Professor of Clinical Pharmacology at Cornell University Medical College; physician to outpatients at New York Hospital; associate physician, Cardiovascular Research Unit, Beth Israel Hospital; a research scientist and author or co-author of 85 scientific papers; a 60-year-old grandmother who skis, rows, rides, and plays smashing tennis.

She was born in a brownstone house on New York's West 11th Street, the second daughter of Willard Travell, a successful young doctor, and his wife, a Phi Beta Kappa from Wellesley.

On Janet's eighth birthday, Dr. Travell gave each of his daughters a tennis racket. In the 40-foot yard he laid out half a tennis court, painting the net on the back wall and teaching them to hit strong, swift strokes. When they got to Wellesley, no one could beat them.

Dr. Willard Travell had played on his college team and continued until October, 1959. He died Aug. 14, 1961, at 91.

Medicine was mysterious, yet familiar as bread and milk in the Travell household. Both girls decided to be doctors, Janet arriving at that decision at age seven. Like their mother, both girls made Phi Beta Kappa at Wellesley.

A classmate characterized Janet as an "energetic, vivacious, unassuming girl . . . with a capacity for doing 10 things at once . . . and doing them well." Her brilliant record at Cornell University Medical College won her an interneship at New York Hospital—the second woman to achieve the post.

She lightened her labors by dancing through her nights off. At one dance she met John Powell, a young banker who had been the best college pitcher in the South but had refused several big-league offers.

All Set for Two Careers

In June, 1929, they were married and moved into the Travell house. Janet, on part-time service at the hospital, divided the remainder of the day between her new home upstairs and her new practice in her father's office.

They worked independently, yet cooperatively: "My father was a pioneer in physical medicine. I learned a great deal from him."

Dr. Janet continued doing 10 things at a time—and doing all of them well: teaching, research, hospital clinics, private practice, designing seats for planes (the tilt-back seat on the Electra airliner among others), tractors, telephone switchboards, office chairs, even toilets. "All in the interest of preventive medi-

New Yorkers Were SHOCKED By The Recent EXPOSE of PATENT MEDICINE PRACTICES Now You Too Can Learn How To SAVE ...STOP PAYING HIGH PRICES FOR

VITAMINS

A recent public service study of Patent Medicines in one of New York's leading evening newspapers, devoted one entire installment to VITAMINS and disclosed many interesting highlights about the sale of Vitamins and Vitamin-Mineral combinations.

One of the startling revelations in this frank article was the wide variance of Vitamin prices.

The following three paragraphs taken from the series, as it appeared, are of particular concern to every family buying Vitamins.

"Any particular vitamin bottled under one label is, for all practical and therapeutic purposes, the same as if it is bottled under another label. The fact is, most of the Vitamin concentrates consumed in America are produced by only a few companies.

"The list of ingredients in a Vitamin compound is one thing the consumer can almost always depend on to be correct. Any company which fails to label the bottle with the exact formula and amount (or unit strength) of each ingredient risks a seizure by the U. S. Government.

"Bearing that in mind, it is interesting to pick up a few Vitamin catalogs and compare the prices charged by different companies for the same Vitamin compounds."

Following publication of the installment we received hundreds of phone calls requesting copies of the Hudson Vitamin Catalog. This interest prompted us to tell the entire nation our story.

Hudson Vitamin Products has been serving doctors and nurses for over 25 years and now you, too, can purchase your Vitamins DIRECT from Hudson at savings up to 50% and more. Page after page in the Free Hudson Catalog shows tremendous dollar savings on Vitamins, Vitamin-Mineral combinations and Food Supplements.

Here is one example from the Hudson Vitamin Catalog: A very popular multiple vitamin that is taken once-a-day, regularly sells for about $3.10 per 100 . . . the Hudson formula sells for only $1.50 per 100.

Here is another — a well-known high potency B complex formula with Vitamin C and minerals (similar to a brand nationally advertised at $4.40 per 100) . . . only $2.10 per 100 DIRECT from the Hudson Vitamin Catalog.

These are only two examples that you will find in our 48 page catalog that is simple, easy to read and has been a Vitamin buying guide for millions from coast-to-coast.

Write for the Catalog and show it to your doctor if you like— but, by all means, discover for yourself why Hudson has become a DIRECT MONEY-SAVING source for vitamins throughout the nation. All Hudson vitamin products are sold with a money back guarantee.

cine," she says about the latter endeavor, quoting a Greek proverb: "The mind can absorb no more than the seat can endure."

Her daughters are both mothers and artists: Janet, 28 (Mrs. James McAlee), is an operatic soprano. Virginia, 25 (Mrs. Edward Street), is a prize-winning painter.

Honors and high office have not changed Janet Travell. Her classmate's characterization applies just as accurately today. When the President warned her shortly after his inauguration that he was going to be so healthy she would "get bored to death and had better find something to do," she associated herself with the teaching and research departments of George Washington University Hospital and Medical School.

A Matter of Watchful Waiting

After the President strained his back in Canada while heaving a few spadefuls of dirt at a tree-planting ceremony, Dr. Travell saw him every day. But the President feels that, at 44, he does not need daily observation or a personal physician wherever he goes. So Dr. Travell did not accompany him to South America and Bermuda, nor did she go to Palm Beach with him in December. Instead, her chief assistant, Navy Capt. George Burkley, M.C., accompanied the President, and Dr. Travell spent the holidays with her family in Florida, joining the Kennedys specifically for a year-end examination.

For all her trail blazing, she is essentially conservative and in some ways as old-fashioned as her highly publicized rocking chair.

She and her father were lifelong Republicans until Kennedy was nominated. Then Dr. Janet worked on the "Doctors for Kennedy" campaign and Dr. Willard flaunted the flashiest "Kennedy for President" button made.

I asked Dr. Travell how she manages to work everything in and still seem so relaxed. She told me, "I've learned to utilize the minutes. Driving a car, I always have a magazine handy for traffic stops—I prop it on the steering wheel, and when the traffic moves I move. My husband says, 'Ask her what she does between midnight and morning.' I'm really a very good sleeper, but if I happen to wake up I always read something quickly. I never lie in bed just waiting to fall asleep again. There are too many things to do."

Dr. Travell sits on portico of the White House in the rocking chair she designed for President Kennedy.

After her appointment as official White House physician, I asked Dr. Travell when she had decided to accept the post.

"There never was a decision," she replied. "After all, I'd been taking care of Mr. Kennedy for years. When the Secret Service put me on call, I knew I would be here all the time or running back and forth from New York, so I didn't accept any new patients after mid-November. Right after his inauguration the President told me, 'You'd better stay. It would make it a lot easier.' Of course, it was hard to leave New York and all my friends and patients."

There was no mention of the financial sacrifice, but at $50 a visit against this $20,000-a-year appointment, it must be considerable.

In many respects, Dr. Travell is an extraordinary woman. She is Associate Professor of Clinical Pharmacology at Cornell University Medical College; physician to outpatients at New York Hospital; associate physician, Cardiovascular Research Unit, Beth Israel Hospital; a research scientist and author or co-author of 85 scientific papers; a 60-year-old grandmother who skis, rows, rides, and plays smashing tennis.

She was born in a brownstone house on New York's West 11th Street, the second daughter of Willard Travell, a successful young doctor, and his wife, a Phi Beta Kappa from Wellesley.

On Janet's eighth birthday, Dr. Travell gave each of his daughters a tennis racket. In the 40-foot yard he laid out half a tennis court, painting the net on the back wall and teaching them to hit strong, swift strokes. When they got to Wellesley, no one could beat them.

Dr. Willard Travell had played on his college team and continued until October, 1959. He died Aug. 14, 1961, at 91.

Medicine was mysterious, yet familiar as bread and milk in the Travell household. Both girls decided to be doctors, Janet arriving at that decision at age seven. Like their mother, both girls made Phi Beta Kappa at Wellesley.

A classmate characterized Janet as an "energetic, vivacious, unassuming girl . . . with a capacity for doing 10 things at once . . . and doing them well." Her brilliant record at Cornell University Medical College won her an interneship at New York Hospital—the second woman to achieve the post.

She lightened her labors by dancing through her nights off. At one dance she met John Powell, a young banker who had been the best college pitcher in the South but had refused several big-league offers.

All Set for Two Careers

In June, 1929, they were married and moved into the Travell house. Janet, on part-time service at the hospital, divided the remainder of the day between her new home upstairs and her new practice in her father's office.

They worked independently, yet cooperatively: "My father was a pioneer in physical medicine. I learned a great deal from him."

Dr. Janet continued doing 10 things at a time—and doing all of them well: teaching, research, hospital clinics, private practice, designing seats for planes (the tilt-back seat on the Electra airliner among others), tractors, telephone switchboards, office chairs, even toilets. SPORT OF QUEENS

Kelso is an outstanding example of this, she claims. He was a "scrawny little foal" so unlike a champion that he was gelded. But Mrs. du Pont and her trainers liked something about him. "He was always gentle, yet very alert, as if planning every move," she recalls. A lot of time, training, and care went into the misfit, and as a two-year-old experts first noticed the deepening chest and whippetlike legs of a comer. "But it is really heart and character that make a champion," Mrs. du Pont says, "and these are bred into horses like Kelso. The thrill is in recognizing them and bringing them out."

Another outstanding horsewoman is Josephine Bay Paul. In 1952 she attended a race at Hialeah with her late husband, a racing enthusiast. The driving finish so fascinated Mrs. Paul that her husband decided they should have a stable of their own. Two experts, Sherrill Ward and John Clark, assembled some yearlings, which Mrs. Paul, much to the annoyance of track announcers, dubbed with tongue-twisting names of Nordic deities.

It was Mrs. Paul herself, however, who determined to purchase a truly outstanding filly spotted by Ward. "Let's get her at any price," she told him.

While at a dinner party, a newspaper reporter called to tell her that the filly had been purchased—for $63,000, a record price at the time.

"I suppose he expected me to be surprised," Mrs. Paul says, "but I wasn't. I knew it was a good investment." It was: the filly was Idun, who went on to win $290,000.

Such horse sense comes as no surprise to those who know the gracious, soft-spoken mother of three. When not keeping track of her horses in America and England, she serves as president and chairman of the board of one of Wall Street's major brokerage houses, and she once headed a vast steamship line.

AMONG THE more celebrated lady stable owners is Liz (Whitney) Tippett, something of a madcap in society circles but a shrewd overseer of her famous Llangollen Farms, near Upperville, Va. This season, at Palm Beach and Hialeah, Mrs. Tippett startled society by commuting in her own fuchsia and orange helicopter—"our stable colors, you know."

The colors have fared well on the tote boards, with such horses as Gone Fishin' (1958) and Divine Comedy (1960). Mrs. Tippett has had as many as 300 head on her farms in Virginia, California, and Florida, and, dressed in faded Levis and men's coarse shirts, she has kept personal track of all of them.

Three-year-old Yorky gets a kiss from owner Mrs. Gene Markey after winning $100,000 Widener Handicap at Hialeah.

The grandes dames of racing are Mrs. Eizabeth Arden Graham and Mrs. Gene Markey. Their troubles on and off the track have become racing legends. In the 1958 Flamingo, for example, their horses—Jewel's Reward and Tim Tam, respectively—thundered into the stretch in as thrilling a finish as any movie writer ever conceived. In the excitement, the jockeys moved their mounts flank to flank. They bumped—and bumped again in what amounted to an old-fashioned jousting match.

Tim Tam stumbled off pace. As 31,000 railbirds shouted, Mrs. Graham's Jewel's Reward burst ahead at the finish and was flashed on the boards as winner. Mrs. Graham marched regally to the winner's circle—only to be told at the last moment that her horse had been disqualified for jarring Tim Tam. Smiling, but with tears in her eyes, she watched the $97,000 purse go to her arch rival.

Both are true sportswomen, though, and used to triumphs as well as setbacks. Mrs. Graham bought $280,000 worth of yearlings in 1945, only to lose most of them in a stable fire the next year at Chicago's Arlington Park. She started rebuilding with typical determination—a determination that hasn't always made her friends. "She fires trainers the way baseball owners fire managers," one track official says, disapprovingly. But Maine Chance returned to the top in the early '50s and now, after another slump, Mrs. Graham is again rebuilding with excellent German stock.

MRS. MARKEY'S Calumet Farm, once so overwhelming that some critics thought it was ruining Thoroughbred racing, hasn't recently produced a headliner like Citation or Whirlaway (her all-time favorite)—just horses good enough to make the stable the biggest money winner of 1961. Mrs. Markey holds tight reins over Calumet, from finances to how a horse's tail should be braided, but the element of womanhood is ever-present.

Admiral and Mrs. Markey visited a horse auction recently and found themselves seated next to Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, mistress of Greentree Stables and also owner of the new New York Mets baseball team. The ladies fell into animated conversation until a handsome colt was trotted out. Both called $20,000 bids. "I'm sorry, Lucille," Mrs. Payson said. "You take him."

Mrs. Markey bid $21,000, then had a change of heart. "No, he should go to you." So Mrs. Payson upped to $22,000—then felt she was being selfish and deferred again to Mrs. Markey.

The bid-and-bow routine went on to $27,000. Then Admiral Markey, face flushed with male righteousness, shouted a curt "$28,000!" and fixed the women in a malevolent stare. They fell silent, and the auctioneer knocked down the colt to Markey.

Then, unperturbed, the ladies resumed their conversation while the Admiral went off to pay an extra $8,000 for a colt he may or may not have wanted.

With her trainer, a crushed Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham hears Jewel's Reward being disqualified in the Flamingo.

Breakfast in the Suburbs

Is it not enough, my cheerful lord,
That you find your breakfast coffee poured?
That the toast is hot, the eggs are fried
With a dab of jelly at the side?
This I have managed through gloom and fog
Of early morning. Even the dog
Knows better than to glance my way.
Be thankful I start you on your day
And wave to me gaily from the walk,
But darling, don't expect me to talk!

—Betty Isler

A housewife wanted to do some shopping in town and asked the children next door if they would take care of her pet poodle during her absence. They agreed. Some hours later she returned to pick up the animal, and the youngsters gravely handed him over.

"Have you taken good care of Pierre?" she asked.

"Oh, yes, ma'am," the children chorused hastily.

"And he can swim now, too!" the youngest added.

New Yorkers Were SHOCKED By The Recent EXPOSE of PATENT MEDICINE PRACTICES Now You Too Can Learn How To SAVE ...STOP PAYING HIGH PRICES FOR

VITAMINS

A recent public service study of Patent Medicines in one of New York's leading evening newspapers, devoted one entire installment to VITAMINS and disclosed many interesting highlights about the sale of Vitamins and Vitamin-Mineral combinations.

One of the startling revelations in this frank article was the wide variance of Vitamin prices.

The following three paragraphs taken from the series, as it appeared, are of particular concern to every family buying Vitamins.

"Any particular vitamin bottled under one label is, for all practical and therapeutic purposes, the same as if it is bottled under another label. The fact is, most of the Vitamin concentrates consumed in America are produced by only a few companies.

"The list of ingredients in a Vitamin compound is one thing the consumer can almost always depend on to be correct. Any company which fails to label the bottle with the exact formula and amount (or unit strength) of each ingredient risks a seizure by the U. S. Government.

"Bearing that in mind, it is interesting to pick up a few Vitamin catalogs and compare the prices charged by different companies for the same Vitamin compounds."

Following publication of the installment we received hundreds of phone calls requesting copies of the Hudson Vitamin Catalog. This interest prompted us to tell the entire nation our story.

Hudson Vitamin Products has been serving doctors and nurses for over 25 years and now you, too, can purchase your Vitamins DIRECT from Hudson at savings up to 50% and more. Page after page in the Free Hudson Catalog shows tremendous dollar savings on Vitamins, Vitamin-Mineral combinations and Food Supplements.

Here is one example from the Hudson Vitamin Catalog: A very popular multiple vitamin that is taken once-a-day, regularly sells for about $3.10 per 100 . . . the Hudson formula sells for only $1.50 per 100.

Here is another — a well-known high potency B complex formula with Vitamin C and minerals (similar to a brand nationally advertised at $4.40 per 100) . . . only $2.10 per 100 DIRECT from the Hudson Vitamin Catalog.

These are only two examples that you will find in our 48 page catalog that is simple, easy to read and has been a Vitamin buying guide for millions from coast-to-coast.

Write for the Catalog and show it to your doctor if you like— but, by all means, discover for yourself why Hudson has become a DIRECT MONEY-SAVING source for vitamins throughout the nation. All Hudson vitamin products are sold with a money back guarantee.

cine," she says about the latter endeavor, quoting a Greek proverb: "The mind can absorb no more than the seat can endure."

Her daughters are both mothers and artists: Janet, 28 (Mrs. James McAlee), is an operatic soprano. Virginia, 25 (Mrs. Edward Street), is a prize-winning painter.

Honors and high office have not changed Janet Travell. Her classmate's characterization applies just as accurately today. When the President warned her shortly after his inauguration that he was going to be so healthy she would "get bored to death and had better find something to do," she associated herself with the teaching and research departments of George Washington University Hospital and Medical School.

A Matter of Watchful Waiting

After the President strained his back in Canada while heaving a few spadefuls of dirt at a tree-planting ceremony, Dr. Travell saw him every day. But the President feels that, at 44, he does not need daily observation or a personal physician wherever he goes. So Dr. Travell did not accompany him to South America and Bermuda, nor did she go to Palm Beach with him in December. Instead, her chief assistant, Navy Capt. George Burkley, M.C., accompanied the President, and Dr. Travell spent the holidays with her family in Florida, joining the Kennedys specifically for a year-end examination.

For all her trail blazing, she is essentially conservative and in some ways as old-fashioned as her highly publicized rocking chair.

She and her father were lifelong Republicans until Kennedy was nominated. Then Dr. Janet worked on the "Doctors for Kennedy" campaign and Dr. Willard flaunted the flashiest "Kennedy for President" button made.

I asked Dr. Travell how she manages to work everything in and still seem so relaxed. She told me, "I've learned to utilize the minutes. Driving a car, I always have a magazine handy for traffic stops—I prop it on the steering wheel, and when the traffic moves I move. My husband says, 'Ask her what she does between midnight and morning.' I'm really a very good sleeper, but if I happen to wake up I always read something quickly. I never lie in bed just waiting to fall asleep again. There are too many things to do."

Dr. Travell sits on portico of the White House in the rocking chair she designed for President Kennedy.

SPORT OF QUEENS

she says, "but in breeding them and watching them develop into champions."

Kelso is an outstanding example of this, she claims. He was a "scrawny little foal" so unlike a champion that he was gelded. But Mrs. du Pont and her trainers liked something about him. "He was always gentle, yet very alert, as if planning every move," she recalls. A lot of time, training, and care went into the misfit, and as a two-year-old experts first noticed the deepening chest and whippetlike legs of a comer. "But it is really heart and character that make a champion," Mrs. du Pont says, "and these are bred into horses like Kelso. The thrill is in recognizing them and bringing them out."

Another outstanding horsewoman is Josephine Bay Paul. In 1952 she attended a race at Hialeah with her late husband, a racing enthusiast. The driving finish so fascinated Mrs. Paul that her husband decided they should have a stable of their own. Two experts, Sherrill Ward and John Clark, assembled some yearlings, which Mrs. Paul, much to the annoyance of track announcers, dubbed with tongue-twisting names of Nordic deities.

It was Mrs. Paul herself, however, who determined to purchase a truly outstanding filly spotted by Ward. "Let's get her at any price," she told him.

While at a dinner party, a newspaper reporter called to tell her that the filly had been purchased—for $63,000, a record price at the time.

"I suppose he expected me to be surprised," Mrs. Paul says, "but I wasn't. I knew it was a good investment." It was: the filly was Idun, who went on to win $290,000.

Such horse sense comes as no surprise to those who know the gracious, soft-spoken mother of three. When not keeping track of her horses in America and England, she serves as president and chairman of the board of one of Wall Street's major brokerage houses, and she once headed a vast steamship line.

AMONG THE more celebrated lady stable owners is Liz (Whitney) Tippett, something of a madcap in society circles but a shrewd overseer of her famous Llangollen Farms, near Upperville, Va. This season, at Palm Beach and Hialeah, Mrs. Tippett startled society by commuting in her own fuchsia and orange helicopter—"our stable colors, you know."

The colors have fared well on the tote boards, with such horses as Gone Fishin' (1958) and Divine Comedy (1960). Mrs. Tippett has had as many as 300 head on her farms in Virginia, California, and Florida, and, dressed in faded Levis and men's coarse shirts, she has kept personal track of all of them.

Three-year-old Yorky gets a kiss from owner Mrs. Gene Markey after winning $100,000 Widener Handicap at Hialeah.

The grandes dames of racing are Mrs. Eizabeth Arden Graham and Mrs. Gene Markey. Their troubles on and off the track have become racing legends. In the 1958 Flamingo, for example, their horses—Jewel's Reward and Tim Tam, respectively—thundered into the stretch in as thrilling a finish as any movie writer ever conceived. In the excitement, the jockeys moved their mounts flank to flank. They bumped—and bumped again in what amounted to an old-fashioned jousting match.

Tim Tam stumbled off pace. As 31,000 railbirds shouted, Mrs. Graham's Jewel's Reward burst ahead at the finish and was flashed on the boards as winner. Mrs. Graham marched regally to the winner's circle—only to be told at the last moment that her horse had been disqualified for jarring Tim Tam. Smiling, but with tears in her eyes, she watched the $97,000 purse go to her arch rival.

Both are true sportswomen, though, and used to triumphs as well as setbacks. Mrs. Graham bought $280,000 worth of yearlings in 1945, only to lose most of them in a stable fire the next year at Chicago's Arlington Park. She started rebuilding with typical determination—a determination that hasn't always made her friends. "She fires trainers the way baseball owners fire managers," one track official says, disapprovingly. But Maine Chance returned to the top in the early '50s and now, after another slump, Mrs. Graham is again rebuilding with excellent German stock.

MRS. MARKEY'S Calumet Farm, once so overwhelming that some critics thought it was ruining Thoroughbred racing, hasn't recently produced a headliner like Citation or Whirlaway (her all-time favorite)—just horses good enough to make the stable the biggest money winner of 1961. Mrs. Markey holds tight reins over Calumet, from finances to how a horse's tail should be braided, but the element of womanhood is ever-present.

Admiral and Mrs. Markey visited a horse auction recently and found themselves seated next to Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, mistress of Greentree Stables and also owner of the new New York Mets baseball team. The ladies fell into animated conversation until a handsome colt was trotted out. Both called $20,000 bids. "I'm sorry, Lucille," Mrs. Payson said. "You take him."

Mrs. Markey bid $21,000, then had a change of heart. "No, he should go to you." So Mrs. Payson upped to $22,000—then felt she was being selfish and deferred again to Mrs. Markey.

The bid-and-bow routine went on to $27,000. Then Admiral Markey, face flushed with male righteousness, shouted a curt "$28,000!" and fixed the women in a malevolent stare. They fell silent, and the auctioneer knocked down the colt to Markey.

Then, unperturbed, the ladies resumed their conversation while the Admiral went off to pay an extra $8,000 for a colt he may or may not have wanted.

With her trainer, a crushed Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham hears Jewel's Reward being disqualified in the Flamingo.

Horse Racing—Sport of Queens

They'll be off and running next Saturday in the Kentucky Derby—and if history is any indication, watch the Thoroughbreds that carry the colors of elegant ladies

By JACK RYAN

THERE IS ONE pretty sure bet for the Kentucky Derby next Saturday—no filly will win. In 87 Runs for the Roses at Churchill Downs, only one female, Regret, has ever led the pack, and that was back in 1915.

But with that note, abandon any idea you may have that Thoroughbred racing is strictly a male domain—if anything, it has become a sport of queens, at least in the owners' circle. In the past 20 Derbies, 11 winners have been owned or co-owned by women.

Last year's winner, Carry Back, was entered in the name of Mrs. Jack Price, and an early winter-book favorite this year, Ridan, races under the colors of Mrs. Moody Jolley. She turned the horse over to her 23-year-old son LeRoy, who helped develop the colt, purchased for $11,000, into a $350,000 winner with plenty of races still to come.

Mrs. Price, whose Carry Back has won $1 million so far, will be the first to admit she's a "nominal owner." Her husband, a silk-suited dynamo packed into a muscular 5-foot, 4-inch frame, made enough money to retire at 50 and devote himself to developing Thoroughbreds.

Blonde, cheerful Mrs. Price acts as a sort of official hostess: after a win, she accepts the trophy with gracious words while Jack hovers anxiously over his sweating horseflesh. At victory dinners, Mrs. Price sees that the social circles keep revolving while her husband huddles in a corner discussing promising yearlings. But she's also out at dawn with Jack to watch the exercises, and the experts give her credit for helping gentle Carry Back from the ill temper of his younger days and making him, in her own words, "just one of the family."

Another of Mrs. Price's duties was revealed last year after Carry Back won the Preakness. Newsmen asked Price if he had any bad moments during the thrilling come-from-behind victory. "Not as much during the race as before it," he replied.

Ever since the couple started racing horses, Price explained, his wife, a notorious bad-luck bettor, had faithfully made "poison bets" on rival entries to jinx them. "As they were going to the post," Price said, "I asked Katherine if she had laid down her poison bets. She said no, she'd forgotten. I want to tell you I talked to her pretty hard right then and there!"

The lecture must have been taken to heart: Mrs. Price is back wagering poison bets, and Carry Back is still taking the big stakes.

Many of the women owners, however, take an active part in the buying, training, and racing of horses registered in their names. There's no glamour or glory here, just chilly dawn vigils clocking promising yearlings and long hours with veterinarians and trainers.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of the knowledgeable woman horse owner is Mrs. Richard du Pont III, who races Kelso, the Horse of the Year in 1960 and 1961. Mrs. du Pont is no newcomer to the world of fine horses. "I've been riding since my grandfather gave me a pony when I was a small girl," she says, "and riding is still my favorite exercise." She is mistress of the fox hounds for an exclusive Delaware hunt club, and her 23-year-old daughter Laura is a champion equestrienne.

"I can't remember when I first went to the races," she adds, "but I think it was when I was a little girl and was taken to Havre de Grace. How racing and tracks have changed since then!" After her marriage, Mrs. du Pont took up her husband's avocation, glider flying, and held the women's altitude record (her son is now an airline pilot). Mr. du Pont was killed in a California crash, and in 1953 his widow returned to her beloved horses.

Ridan, owned by the Moody Jolleys (left), was given to son LeRoy (with wife, right), who made it $350,000 winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Price are winning big stakes with Carry Back, whose ill temper Mrs. Price had nipped in the bud.

"Watch the Birdie!"

By LOU JACOBS, JR.

IN THE HORATIO ALGER era, the coming of spring signaled a nationwide sprouting of lemonade stands on front lawns. Nowadays the road to spare cash is highly mechanized, and even small fry need a gimmick. Real contemporaries, the Corcoran kids of Los Angeles set up their dad's camera, the kind that produces a finished print in one minute, and for 10 cents a print sold snapshots to their friends. Since the Corcorans are professional actors who have appeared in films and on TV, they even showed their clients how to mug before the camera. The results are some minor classics in photo portraiture.

Who'd think so much talent could be brought together at one time? Here the Corcorans emote for fans.

Horse Racing—Sport of Queens

They'll be off and running next Saturday in the Kentucky Derby—and if history is any indication, watch the Thoroughbreds that carry the colors of elegant ladies

By JACK RYAN

THERE IS ONE pretty sure bet for the Kentucky Derby next Saturday—no filly will win. In 87 Runs for the Roses at Churchill Downs, only one female, Regret, has ever led the pack, and that was back in 1915.

But with that note, abandon any idea you may have that Thoroughbred racing is strictly a male domain—if anything, it has become a sport of queens, at least in the owners' circle. In the past 20 Derbies, 11 winners have been owned or co-owned by women.

Last year's winner, Carry Back, was entered in the name of Mrs. Jack Price, and an early winter-book favorite this year, Ridan, races under the colors of Mrs. Moody Jolley. She turned the horse over to her 23-year-old son LeRoy, who helped develop the colt, purchased for $11,000, into a $350,000 winner with plenty of races still to come.

Mrs. Price, whose Carry Back has won $1 million so far, will be the first to admit she's a "nominal owner." Her husband, a silk-suited dynamo packed into a muscular 5-foot, 4-inch frame, made enough money to retire at 50 and devote himself to developing Thoroughbreds.

Blonde, cheerful Mrs. Price acts as a sort of official hostess: after a win, she accepts the trophy with gracious words while Jack hovers anxiously over his sweating horseflesh. At victory dinners, Mrs. Price sees that the social circles keep revolving while her husband huddles in a corner discussing promising yearlings. But she's also out at dawn with Jack to watch the exercises, and the experts give her credit for helping gentle Carry Back from the ill temper of his younger days and making him, in her own words, "just one of the family."

Another of Mrs. Price's duties was revealed last year after Carry Back won the Preakness. Newsmen asked Price if he had any bad moments during the thrilling come-from-behind victory. "Not as much during the race as before it," he replied.

Ever since the couple started racing horses, Price explained, his wife, a notorious bad-luck bettor, had faithfully made "poison bets" on rival entries to jinx them. "As they were going to the post," Price said, "I asked Katherine if she had laid down her poison bets. She said no, she'd forgotten. I want to tell you I talked to her pretty hard right then and there!"

The lecture must have been taken to heart: Mrs. Price is back wagering poison bets, and Carry Back is still taking the big stakes.

Many of the women owners, however, take an active part in the buying, training, and racing of horses registered in their names. There's no glamour or glory here, just chilly dawn vigils clocking promising yearlings and long hours with veterinarians and trainers.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of the knowledgeable woman horse owner is Mrs. Richard du Pont III, who races Kelso, the Horse of the Year in 1960 and 1961. Mrs. du Pont is no newcomer to the world of fine horses. "I've been riding since my grandfather gave me a pony when I was a small girl," she says, "and riding is still my favorite exercise." She is mistress of the fox hounds for an exclusive Delaware hunt club, and her 23-year-old daughter Laura is a champion equestrienne.

"I can't remember when I first went to the races," she adds, "but I think it was when I was a little girl and was taken to Havre de Grace. How racing and tracks have changed since then!" After her marriage, Mrs. du Pont took up her husband's avocation, glider flying, and held the women's altitude record (her son is now an airline pilot). Mr. du Pont was killed in a California crash, and in 1953 his widow returned to her beloved horses.

Ridan, owned by the Moody Jolleys (left), was given to son LeRoy (with wife, right), who made it $350,000 winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Price are winning big stakes with Carry Back, whose ill temper Mrs. Price had nipped in the bud.

How even a young father can provide the security his family needs

It's a happy occasion when a new father discovers that he has two best girls. But it also brings a disturbing thought: "What would happen to them if something happened to me?"

This is when the immediate security that life insurance brings is so reassuring. From the moment he receives his policy, a father knows that his family is guaranteed more money than he could save in years.

No other way of providing family security offers this miracle of immediate, lasting protection. It is one of the unique advantages of life insurance.

5 ways that the unique advantages of life insurance bring peace of mind at the stroke of a pen

1. Guarantees funds for children's education. By having a life insurance policy for college expenses, you can guarantee your boy or girl will have this opportunity, whether you live or not.

2. Guarantees a family can keep its home. With life insurance, a man can guarantee there will be money to pay off the mortgage if he doesn't live to complete the payments.

3. Guarantees money for emergencies. The guaranteed cash values in your policy can help you meet big unexpected expenses.

4. Guarantees a lifetime income at retirement. Life insurance can furnish additional income for the policyholder and his wife at retirement that's guaranteed as long as either lives.

5. Guarantees immediate family protection. Only life insurance enables you to provide full protection for your family right from the start.

To make sure you get the most from your life insurance, take full advantage of the continuing service your life insurance agent offers. Review your program with him regularly—at least every two years—to keep it in line with your changing circumstances. This service, which costs you nothing, may make your life insurance even more valuable when you or your family need it.

By LOU JACOBS, JR.

IN THE HORATIO ALGER era, the coming of spring signaled a nationwide sprouting of lemonade stands on front lawns. Nowadays the road to spare cash is highly mechanized, and even small fry need a gimmick. Real contemporaries, the Corcoran kids of Los Angeles set up their dad's camera, the kind that produces a finished print in one minute, and for 10 cents a print sold snapshots to their friends. Since the Corcorans are professional actors who have appeared in films and on TV, they even showed their clients how to mug before the camera. The results are some minor classics in photo portraiture.

Who'd think so much talent could be brought together at one time? Here the Corcorans emote for fans.

Lemon Chiffon Cake

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN.
TO BAKE: ABOUT 1 HR. 10 MIN.

- 2¼ cups sifted cake flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup cooking oil
- 6 egg yolks
- ¾ cup cold water
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 6 egg whites
- ½ teaspoon cream of tartar
- ½ cup sugar

1. Sift first four ingredients together into a bowl. Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients and add the next five ingredients. Beat until smooth; set aside.

2. Beat the egg whites until frothy; beat in the cream of tartar. Add the ½ cup sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Beat until peaks are rounded.

3. Slowly pour egg yolk mixture over entire surface of meringue. Carefully fold together until just blended. Gently pour batter into an ungreased 10-in. tubed pan, rotating pan as you pour in batter.

4. Bake at 325°F 55 min.; increase heat to 350°F and bake for 10 to 15 min., or until top of cake springs back when touched lightly.

5. Immediately invert pan on cooling rack; allow cake to cool completely. When cake is cooled, cut around tube with paring knife to loosen cake. Loosen sides with spatula and gently remove cake from pan.

6. Frost cake with butter frosting tinted to harmonize with your color scheme or serve unfrosted cake with assorted dessert sauces. One 10-inch tubed cake

How even a young father can provide the security his family needs

It's a happy occasion when a new father discovers that he has two best girls. But it also brings a disturbing thought: "What would happen to them if something happened to me?"

This is when the immediate security that life insurance brings is so reassuring. From the moment he receives his policy, a father knows that his family is guaranteed more money than he could save in years.

No other way of providing family security offers this miracle of immediate, lasting protection. It is one of the unique advantages of life insurance.

5 ways that the unique advantages of life insurance bring peace of mind at the stroke of a pen

1. Guarantees funds for children's education. By having a life insurance policy for college expenses, you can guarantee your boy or girl will have this opportunity, whether you live or not.

2. Guarantees a family can keep its home. With life insurance, a man can guarantee there will be money to pay off the mortgage if he doesn't live to complete the payments.

3. Guarantees money for emergencies. The guaranteed cash values in your policy can help you meet big unexpected expenses.

4. Guarantees a lifetime income at retirement. Life insurance can furnish additional income for the policyholder and his wife at retirement that's guaranteed as long as either lives.

5. Guarantees immediate family protection. Only life insurance enables you to provide full protection for your family right from the start.

To make sure you get the most from your life insurance, take full advantage of the continuing service your life insurance agent offers. Review your program with him regularly—at least every two years—to keep it in line with your changing circumstances. This service, which costs you nothing, may make your life insurance even more valuable when you or your family need it.
